Zambia, Mining, and Neoliberalism A. Fraser,M. Larmer,2010-12-20 This book paints a vivid picture of Zambia s experience riding the copper price rollercoaster It brings together the best of recent research on Zambia s mining industry from eminent scholars in history geography anthropology politics sociology and economics The authors discuss how aid donors pressed Zambia to privatize its key industry and how multinational mining houses took advantage of tax breaks and lax regulation It considers the opportunities and dangers presented by Chinese investment how both companies and the Zambian state responded to dramatic instabilities in global commodity markets since 2004 and how frustration with the courting of mining multinationals has led to the rise of populist opposition This detailed study of a key industry in a poor Central African state tells us a great deal about the unstable nature and uneven impacts of the whole global economic system former Liberian President Charles Ghankay Taylor for allegedly bearing greatest responsibility for serious violations of international humanitarian law committed during the latter half of the Sierra Leonean armed conflict. It completed its work in December 2013. A new Residual Special Court for Sierra Leone based in Freetown and with offices in The Hague has been created to carry out its essential residual functions. This volume which consists of three books and a CD ROM and is edited by two legal experts on the Sierra Leone court presents for the first time in a single place a comprehensive collection of all the interlocutory decisions and final trial and appeals judgments issued by the court in the case Prosecutor v Charles Ghankay Taylor. The Taylor case is the jewel in the crown of the SCSL as it was the first ever trial and conviction of a former African head of state for crimes committed in a neighboring state. It is also one of a handful of such significant cases in international criminal law. The Taylor Law Report contains the full text of all substantive judicial decisions including the majority separate and concurring as well as dissenting opinions and probably the longest trial judgment ever issued by an international criminal court. It additionally provides relevant information for a better understanding of the case such as the indictments, a list of admitted exhibits and a list of documents on the case file. This book set which is the third in a series of edited law reports that follows volume 1 on Prosecutor v Brima Kamara and Kanu the so called AFRC case published in November 2012 and volume 2 Prosecutor v Norman Fofana and Kondewa the CDF case published in March 2014 seeks to capture the entire jurisprudential legacy of the tribunal, fills the gap for a single and authoritative reference source of the tribunal's jurisprudence. These law reports the last volumes of which will be published in 2015 and 2016 are intended for national and international judges, lawyers, academics, students and other researchers as well as transitional justice practitioners in courts, tribunals and truth commissions as well as anyone seeking an accurate record of the trials conducted by the Special Court for Sierra Leone. NB The hardback copy of this title contains a CD ROM with the scanned decisions that are reproduced in the book and the trial transcripts. The e book version does not. How does the use of military drones affect the legal, political and moral responsibility of different actors involved in their deployment and design? This volume offers a fresh contribution to the ethics of drone warfare by providing for the first time a systematic interdisciplinary discussion of different responsibility issues raised by military drones. The book discusses four main sets of questions. First from a legal point of view we analyse the ways in which the use of drones makes the attribution of criminal responsibility to individuals for war crimes more complicated and what adjustments may be required in international criminal law and in military practices to avoid responsibility gaps in warfare From a moral and political perspective the volume looks at the conditions under which the use of military drones by states is impermissible permissible or even obligatory and what the responsibilities of a state in the use of drones towards both its citizens and potential targets are From a socio technical perspective what kind of new human machine interaction might and should drones bring and which new kinds of shared agency and responsibility Finally we ask how the use of drones changes our conception of agency and responsibility The book will be of interest to scholars and students in military ethics and to those in law politics and the military involved in the design deployment and evaluation of military drones
