 ,1922 Government Reports Annual Index , The Great Upheaval Arthur Levine,Scott Van Pelt,2021-09-14 How will America's colleges and universities adapt to remarkable technological economic and demographic change The United States is in the midst of a profound transformation the likes of which hasn't been seen since the Industrial Revolution when America's classical colleges adapted to meet the needs of an emerging industrial economy Today as the world shifts to an increasingly interconnected knowledge economy the intersecting forces of technological innovation globalization and demographic change create vast new challenges opportunities and uncertainties In this great upheaval the nation's most enduring social institutions are at a crossroads In The Great Upheaval Arthur Levine and Scott Van Pelt examine higher and postsecondary education to see how it has changed to become what it is today and how it might be refitted for an uncertain future Taking a unique historical cross industry perspective Levine and Van Pelt perform a 360 degree survey of American higher education Combining historical trend and comparative analyses of other business sectors they ask how much will colleges and universities change what will change and how will these changes occur will institutions of higher learning be able to adapt to the challenges they face or will they be disrupted by them will the industrial model of higher education be repaired or replaced why is higher education more important than ever The book is neither an attempt to advocate for a particular future direction nor a warning about that future Rather it looks objectively at the contexts in which higher education has operated and will continue to operate It also seeks to identify likely developments that will aid those involved in steering higher education forward as well as the many millions of Americans who have a stake in its future Concluding with a detailed agenda for action The Great Upheaval is aimed at policy makers college administrators faculty trustees and students as well as general readers and people who work for nonprofits facing the same big changes The State of College Access and Completion Laura W. Perna,Anthony Jones,2013-07-18 Despite decades of substantial investments by the federal government state governments colleges and universities and private foundations students from low income families as well as racial and ethnic minority groups continue to have substantially lower levels of postsecondary educational attainment than individuals from other groups The State of College Access and Completion draws together leading researchers nationwide to summarize the state of college access and success and to provide recommendations for how institutional leaders and policymakers can effectively improve the entire spectrum of college access and completion Springboarding from a seminar series organized by the Advisory Committee on Student Financial Assistance chapter authors explore what is known and not known from existing research about how to improve student success This much needed book calls explicit attention to the state of college access and success not only for traditional college age students but also for the substantial and growing number of nontraditional students Describing trends in various outcomes along the pathway from college access to completion this volume documents persisting gaps in outcomes based on students demographic characteristics and offers recommendations for strategies to raise student attainment Graduate students scholars and researchers in higher education will find The State of College Access and Completion to be an important and timely resource List of Serials Currently Received in the Library of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Exclusive of U.S. Government Publications and Publications of the State Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations National Agricultural Library (U.S.),1922 Pronghorn Mine, Mining and Reclamation Plan ,1979 Reports from Universities and University Colleges Participating in the Parliamentary Grant ... Great Britain. Board of Education,1914 Reports from Universities and University Colleges Participating in the Parliamentary Grant Great Britain. Board of Education,1914 Getting to Graduation Andrew P. Kelly,Mark Schneider,2012-09 What will it take to achieve President Obama s higher education completion agenda The United States long considered to have the best higher education in the world now ranks eleventh in the proportion of 25 to 34 year olds with a college degree As other countries have made dramatic gains in degree attainment the U S has improved more slowly In response President Obama recently laid out a national completion agenda with the goal of making the U S the best educated nation in the world by the year 2020 Getting to Graduation explores the reforms that we must pursue to recover a position of international leadership in higher education as well as the obstacles to those reforms This new completion agenda puts increased pressure on institutions to promote student success and improve institutional productivity in a time of declining public revenue In this volume scholars of higher education and public policymakers describe promising directions for reform They argue that it is essential to redefine postsecondary education and to consider a broader range of learning opportunities beyond the research university and traditional bachelor degree programs to include community colleges occupational certificate programs and apprenticeships The authors also emphasize the need to rethink policies governing financial aid remediation and institutional funding to promote degree completion Reports from Those Universities and Univ. Alfred,2012-12-27 Re visioning Community Collegestraces the development and generational evolution of community colleges explores the past success and future capacity of community colleges as disruptive innovators and analyzes this sector's unique advantages and vulnerabilities. Ultimately Sydow and Alfred presents alternative futures for community colleges as they like all sectors of higher education face rapidly changing environmental forces and conditions. Re-visioning the primary thrust of the book is the process of foresight into the shape that community colleges will likely take in the future on the basis of their growth and innovation trajectory and in response to the dramatic industry shift that is currently underway in the higher education enterprise. Energy Abstracts for Policy Analysis, 1988 The Energy System Travis Bradford, 2018-08-21 A comprehensive textbook that integrates tools from technology, economics, markets and policy to approach energy issues using a dynamic systems and capital-centric perspective. The global energy system is the vital foundation of modern human industrial society. Traditionally studied through separate disciplines of engineering, economics, environment or public policy, this system can be fully understood only by using an approach that integrates these tools. This textbook is the first to take a dynamic systems perspective on understanding energy systems, tracking energy from primary resource to final energy services through a long and capital-intensive supply chain bounded by both macroeconomic and natural resource systems. The book begins with a framework for understanding how energy is transformed as it moves through the system with the aid of various types of capital, its movement influenced by a combination of the technical market and policy conditions at the time. It then examines the three primary energy subsystems of electricity, transportation and thermal energy, explaining such relevant topics as systems thinking, cost estimation, capital formation, market design and policy tools. Finally, the book reintegrates these subsystems and looks at their relation to the economic system and the ecosystem that they inhabit. Practitioners and theorists from any field will benefit from a deeper understanding of both existing dynamic energy system processes and potential tools for intervention.
