Federal Student Loans Tatiana Shohov, 2004. Title IV of the Higher Education Act (HEA) authorizes the major federal student aid programs, including the student loan programs, which are the largest source of aid for students. In FY2000, the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) programs and the Federal Direct Student Loan (DL) program supported an estimated $33.1 billion in new loan volume. Several types of loans are available: Federal need-based subsidized Stafford loans, under which the government pays the interest while the borrower is in school; a grace period of deferment; unsubsidized Stafford loans; Federal PLUS loans for parents of undergraduate students; and Federal Consolidation loans. Overall, student loan volume has been increased in recent years, from $24 billion in FY1994 to $33 billion in FY2000. The number of loans being made has increased over the same period, going from 6,483,000 to 8,618,000. The average amount that individual students are borrowing in any given year has not increased as dramatically. This new book examines important issues related to this cornerstone of American higher education.

Federal Student Loan Programs Federal Student Aid (ED), 2014. For those needing a loan to attend college, think federal aid first. Federal student loans usually offer borrowers lower interest rates and have more flexible repayment terms and options than private student loans. This brief report answers the following questions about federal aid: 1. What is a federal student loan? 2. What is a private student loan? 3. Why are federal student loans a better option for paying for college? 4. How much should I borrow? and 4. A chart presenting the types of federal student loans that are available.

Student Loans and the Dynamics of Debt Brad Hershbein, Kevin M. Hollenbeck, 2015-02-23. The papers included in this volume represent the most current research and knowledge available about student loans and repayment. It serves as a valuable reference for researchers and policymakers who seek a deeper understanding of how, why, and which students borrow for their postsecondary education, how this borrowing may affect later decisions, and what measures can help borrowers repay their loans successfully.

Federal Student Loans Revisited Lydia N. Vedmas, 2005. Title IV of the Higher Education Act (HEA) authorizes the major federal student aid programs, including the student loan programs, which are the largest source of aid for students. In FY2000, the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) programs and the Federal Direct Student Loan (DL) program supported an estimated $33.1 billion in new loan volume. Federal Student Loan Limits and Education Outcomes](#) Cullen F. Goenner, 2015 The Federal Stafford loan program is the largest source of financial aid to students who attend college in the United States Here we utilize the increase in Stafford loan limits that occurred between 2006 and 2008 to identify how a pooled cross section of first time freshmen at the University of North Dakota UND responded to an increase in the availability of credit Using a difference in differences approach we examine how borrowing the composition of credit and student outcomes were impacted by the policy changes The student body at UND provides a unique opportunity to examine the treatment effects of these policies as we are able to isolate the impact of macroeconomic fluctuations on borrowing due to the strength and stability of North Dakota s economy during the period Freshmen are shown here to substitute an increase in their borrowing through Stafford loans with a partial reduction in borrowing via private loans Substitution is particularly strong among more credit constrained students Interestingly despite having access to more credit student academic outcomes did not improve as a result of the changes and in some cases worsened Federal Student Loans Made Under the Federal Family Education Loan Program and the William D. Ford Federal Direct Loan Program David P. Smole, 2013-03-13 The William D Ford Federal Direct Loan DL program authorized under Title IV Part D of the Higher Education Act of 1965 HEA as amended is the primary federal student loan program administered by the U S Department of Education ED The program makes available loans to undergraduate and graduate students and the parents of dependent undergraduate students to help them finance their postsecondary education expenses The following types of loans are currently offered through the DL program Subsidized Stafford Loans for undergraduate students Unsubsidized Stafford Loans for undergraduate and graduate students PLUS Loans for graduate students and the parents of dependent undergraduate students and Consolidation Loans through which borrowers may combine multiple loans into a single loan For FY2013 ED estimates that 22.5 million loans not including Consolidation Loans totaling 120.8 billion will be made to students and their parents through the DL program Until July 1 2010 Subsidized Stafford Loans Unsubsidized Stafford Loans PLUS Loans and Consolidation Loans were also available through the Federal Family Education Loan FFEL program authorized under Title IV Part B of the HEA The SAFRA Act part of the Health Care and Education Reconciliation Act of 2010 HCERA P L 111 152 terminated the authority to make new loans under the FFEL program after June 30 2010 While new loans may no longer be made through the FFEL program approximately 289 billion in FFEL program loans are outstanding and are due to be repaid over the coming years FFEL and

DL program loans are low interest loans with maximum interest rates for each type of loan established by statute Subsidized Stafford Loans are unique in that they are only available to undergraduate students demonstrating financial need With certain exceptions the federal government pays the interest that accrues on Subsidized Stafford Loans while the borrower is enrolled in school on at least a half time basis during a six month grace period thereafter and during periods of authorized deferment Unsubsidized Stafford Loans and PLUS Loans are available to borrowers irrespective of their financial need and borrowers are responsible for paying all the interest that accrues on these loans FFEL and DL program loans have terms and conditions that may be more favorable to borrowers than private and other non federal loans These beneficial terms and conditions include interest rates that are often lower than rates that might be obtained from other lenders opportunities for repayment relief through deferment and forbearance loan consolidation and several loan forgiveness programs In the recent years numerous changes were made to the terms and conditions of DL program loans The Budget Control Act of 2011 BCA P L 112 25 eliminated the availability of Subsidized Stafford Loans to graduate and professional students for periods of instruction beginning on or after July 1 2012 and terminated the availability of certain repayment incentives for loans made on or after July 1 2012 The Consolidated Appropriations Act FY2012 P L 112 74 eliminated interest subsidies during the six month post enrollment grace period on Subsidized Stafford Loans disbursed between July 1 2012 and June 30 2014 The Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act MAP 21 P L 112 141 lowered the interest rate from 6 8% to 3 4% on Subsidized Stafford Loans made between July 1 2012 and June 30 2013 Also for individuals who are new borrowers on or after July 1 2013 MAP 21 restricted both the period during which individuals may borrow Subsidized Stafford Loans and the period during which the in school interest subsidy may be provided to 150% of the published length of their educational program

Choice Architecture Versus Price Xiaoling Ang,2016 We show that changes in choice architecture have a large effect on student loan decisions while we do not find significant effects of sizeable interest rate changes We evaluate the effect of two policies implemented in 2010 by the U S Department of Education 1 the requirement that all applicants for private student loans fill out a Self Certification Form which includes various disclosures about federal aid and 2 the prohibition of presenting a private student loan as a default option on a financial aid offer without disclosure of the relationship between the school and the creditor Using difference and difference and matching techniques on a proprietary dataset of private student loan originations from the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and survey and administrative data from the Department of Education we show that these changes decreased private student loan originations by 33% at public four year institutions 18% at private not for profit four year institutions and 55% at four year for profit institutions In contrast we find no consumer response when analyzing 60 basis point decrease in the price of federal Parental PLUS loans at some schools using same datasets and similar estimation techniques

Private Student Loans Richard Cordray,2013-02-11 This report details the risky practices and debt that stemmed from the boom and bust of the private student loan market in the past ten years According to the report s estimates outstanding student loan debt in the U S topped 1 trillion in 2011 Students were yet another group of consumers that were hurt by the boom and bust of the financial crisis The report found that too many student loan borrowers were given loans they could not afford and sometimes for more money than they needed They are now overwhelmed by debt and regret the decisions they made There are striking similarities between stories of the private student loan market and stories of mortgage market in the years leading up to the financial crisis Before the financial crisis some lenders in both markets engaged in aggressive marketing and risky underwriting They also originated loans for immediate sale Not all lenders chose this path but enough did to produce a market wide trend Contents of this report Lenders Loan Markets and Products Borrower Characteristics and Behaviors Consumer Protection Fair Lending Issues Recommendations Student Loan Glossary Figures and tables This is a print on demand report
