

Skin: Introduction

Skin is a film about how crazy society can be towards the superficial differences between people. Set in the background of apartheid-South Africa, it is the story of Sandra Laing (Sara de Four Bastard) and the way the colour of her skin decides how she is perceived in her world and how it limits what she can be and what she can do. Anthony Fabian's film is based on a real person, and manages to get at the heart of the influence on an individual's sense of identity and belonging the societal clash with the real Sandra Laing, showing her and those she comes close with the pains of struggling film. Skin is a film that has clearly been meticulously and intelligently researched and produced.

As the film opens, we meet an excited Sandra getting ready for her first day of attending her exclusive new school. We see her parents are loving and proud towards their daughter and their son – all of which are clearly white children. Sandra is coloured; the parents did not know they had coloured ancestry in their past – however they bring her up as their beloved white daughter. They are proud to be white and expect their daughter to be treated with all the privileges of white people as they are her parents. It seems such an insignificant thing – the colour of one's skin yet it is the fundamental measuring stick of racism and discrimination across societies all over the world. The irony of the film is that Sandra's parent's supported apartheid, on the political and social level that protected black and white people from mixing, yet the love of apartheid coloured Sandra as 'coloured' and she was rejected from the school they wanted her to attend.

Throughout the film, Sandra experiences prejudice and rejection, and through it all she learns to stand up for what she really is and embrace her own strong sense of identity and belonging.

About Anthony Fabian

Anthony Fabian is a San Francisco born and much-requested producer and director of documentaries and movie programmes with his company Screen Films. Skin was his first feature film and it is essentially a biographic inspiration for him. Although born in San Francisco, Fabian was brought up in Mexico, France and the United Kingdom. He graduated from the UCLA Film and Television school and he works mostly from Britain, having been awarded many accolades and awards. His film Skin received more than 20 international movie prizes.

Anthony Fabian first heard about Sandra Laing's story in 2000 and felt moved and compelled to make her story into a film. At the time, Laing was living in poverty and further insult to the fact she was white she had suffered, yet her white family had prospered. On speaking with Sandra and through the interviews that he was the money from advances for the film and back by Judith Diner 'When she was white', he was more comfortable and set up a small business. Making the film proved a thing and daunting process, especially given the many locations in South Africa that were used and the often challenging weather.

Feature Films in English Language Teaching Britta Viebrock, 2016-07-11 Feature Films in English Language Teaching deals with the use of motion pictures in the advanced EFL English as a foreign language classroom. It provides a general introduction to film literacy and explains the rationale, methods and objectives of working with feature films. In addition, the book contains in-depth considerations on sixteen selected films which are grouped regionally: Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, USA, Great Britain. Each chapter describes the topical focus of the film and its central theme and provides background information on social, historical, political and geographical issues. A profound analysis of selected scenes lays the foundation for considerations on the teaching potential of the film. In a download section, the chapters are complemented with ready-to-use teaching materials on film-specific aspects: narrative, dramatic and cinematographic dimensions, which are organised as pre-while-post viewing activities. A glossary on technical terms for film analysis completes the volume.
