

How To Write the DBQ

A Student Sample

Prompt:

To what extent was late nineteenth-century and early twentieth-century United States expansionism a continuation of past United States expansionism and to what extent was it a departure?

Although in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the United States departed from a George Washington style neutrality and began to assert themselves on the world stage evident in the Pan American Conference, the United States expansionism was actually a departure from past foreign policy only to a small extent and a continuation of past ways to a large extent due to similarities socially, politically, and economically.

Socially, before the Progressive Era and the age of imperialism, Americans were using their ideas of manifest destiny and Social Darwinism to justify their controlling and conquering of Native American lands. With the Louisiana Purchase, the Homestead Act, and the Dawes Act, Americans continued to assert their dominance and infringe upon these Native Americans' liberties, preaching a superior Anglo-Saxon culture. These traditions continued into the Progressive Era and were exercised not just on a domestic scale but on an international scale. Following the enclosure of the West, Frederick Jackson Turner issued his Frontier Thesis of American History stressing the importance of the West as a safety valve for America. It emphasized the concept of manifest destiny and was meant to be applied to the age of American imperialism, the necessity America held to continue to expand (Context & Purpose, Doc. 3). Building off of this long-held American concept came another long-held American concept: Christianizing. Missionaries felt it their duty to preach their superior Christian beliefs as well as spread their superior Western technology and medicine to lesser continents and peoples (Context and Purpose, Doc. 2). The concept illustrated in Josiah Strong's writing emphasized a transformation of Social Darwinism to International Darwinism, an even greater justification for imperial pursuits, consistent with the justification Americans utilized with Native Americans from the colonial era through the nineteenth century. From the Antebellum era to the Progressive Era the concepts of Manifest Destiny and Social Darwinism applied, emphasizing a continuation of United States expansion to a large extent.

Utilizing these social concepts, United States expansion echoed similar political approaches to expansionism as well. Before the American age of imperialism, the Monroe administration of the Era of Good Feelings issued the Monroe Doctrine, stating United States dominance of the Western Hemisphere and warning Europe that the age of colonization was over. Although different in militaristic approaches from earlier time periods, the political motivations rang true and supported a continuation of United States expansionism and supporting force for the protection of these ideals and dominance of the Western world. During the Age of Imperialism but before American entry, European powers were taking their picks of countries around the world in which they were to create foreign markets and establish spheres of influence. Frightened by the threat of falling behind these European powers like Great Britain and France, the United States sought to compete (Context and Purpose, Doc. 1). Evident in advocating of imperialism was the Spanish American War. Although not intended for total conquest, Spanish violation of the Monroe Doctrine prompted U.S. intervention and an eventual acquisition of Cuba as a protectorate, Guam, Puerto Rico, and the Philippines. The acquisition of these territories and protectorate as a result of war and violation of the Monroe Doctrine is consistent with the emphasis the Monroe administration placed on this doctrine earlier in the Era of Good Feelings, echoing similar political approaches to imperialism. Although militaristic approaches took on new forms in the Progressive Era and age of American imperialism, the same political concepts applied, therefore a small extent a departure in foreign policy. In the midst of this age, the U.S. Navy increased its power with construction of all-steel warships as a result of Alfred T. Mahan's emphasis on sea power and its effect on the world of imperialism that the U.S. was facing (Context and Purpose, Doc. 4). Theodore Roosevelt, as the assistant general to the Navy, followed this call for naval power and motivated to show off this new beast in the Great White Fleet which toured the world to emphasize the United States political and imperialistic aspirations as well as emphasizing determination to keep the Open Door open in Asia. Although in the early nineteenth century Thomas Jefferson opposed a strong military, he still used the navy to defeat the Barbary pirates in Tripoli. So despite a difference in ideology between Jefferson and Roosevelt, the policy over time was similar to a great extent. Jefferson was reacting to attacks by pirates, and Roosevelt was similarly reacting to an attack on Manila Bay. Roosevelt advocated his Big Stick foreign policy, emphasizing aggressiveness, a strong navy, and a presence on the world stage (Context and Purpose, Doc. 6). Teddy achieved this through the Roosevelt Corollary, Lodge Corollary, and Plan Amendment. These three acts further emphasized American dominance in the Western hemisphere. Although one could argue the imperialism of the Progressive Era was a departure from past time and was a bit extreme, all the actions echoed the same calls from earlier eras.

Therefore, United States expansionism was a continuation of past United States expansionism to a large extent and a departure to a small extent. Similar to the Progressive Era's economic imperialist attitudes were the motivations of industry in the West post Civil War. During the age of American imperialism, Senators in Congress called for new foreign markets and an expansion of foreign trade especially in the Pacific (Context and Purpose, Doc. 5). This is evident in the Open Door Policy in China enacted by the U.S. during the Progressive Era and was similar to the economic motivations found in the West post Civil War through gold and silver rushes, homesteaders, Indian Wars, and cattle ranching on the Great Plains. Similar motivations rang true through these eras where Manifest Destiny and Anglo-Saxon culture dominated.

NOTES ON WHY THIS ESSAY ROCKED A 7

This intro makes good use of the thesis formula, includes specific example to back up X, and ATTP.

PROPER USE OF THESIS STRATEGY

The student defended his or her thesis with plenty of specific evidence NQT found in the documents. The essay is not a "story" strung together from document analysis, and the documents are used wisely and appropriately.

PROPER USE OF HIPP STRATEGY

The student used 6 of the 7 documents INSTEAD OF 5 OR 7 TO GET ALL THREE DOC POINTS and for each one included context and purpose (HIPP) as well as relevant analysis in relation to the thesis.

It is very important to remember throughout your essay that your purpose is to defend your thesis!

The student "closed the loop" in each paragraph... connecting their analysis back to their thesis.

The student referenced documents appropriately, without wasting time quoting or describing.

The Student understood that in a change over time essay it was important to connect events and policies between different eras.

The concluding paragraph restated the thesis (was consistent) and made a comparative rather contextualization of one of their broad context points. This contextualization was following by an explanation of how or why the broad contexts connect.
