Arrighi, David J. Maume, 2007-05-30 In a 2004 study by the Annie E. Casey Foundation and Rockefeller Foundations it was reported that a large number of American families are currently faring poorly in their struggle to provide for themselves Low income and poor families were found to contain one third of all of the children in American working families Low wage jobs without benefits mean that families at or below the poverty line live a precarious existence This four volume set is designed to reveal explicate analyze and assess the effects of an inadequate income on children Each volume contains original essays written by an interdisciplinary roster of contributors The first volume Children and the State addresses policy and legislation that affect low income families One issue that is considered in this volume is the lack of a national housing policy in the United States The second volume Health and Medical Issues includes discussions on the status of Medicaid the lack of mental health services available for low income families and the difficult to access healthcare for the rural poor Volume three Families and Children explores the effects of welfare reform especially the issue of childcare and the increased work expectations of parents Other compelling topics in this volume include low income families and the Family and Medical Leave Act poor children and the internet and the increase in economic insecurity among low income families who increasingly live on credit In the final volume The Promise of Education universal pre kindergarten Head Start and the education of immigrant children are all explored Filling in The Blanks Keena Arbuthnot,2011-07-01 Filling in the Blanks is a book dedicated to helping policymakers researchers academics and teachers better understand standardized testing and the Black White achievement gap This book provides a wealth of background information as well as the most recent findings about testing and measurement concepts essential to understanding standardized tests The book then reviews theories and research that has been conducted which explain the differences in performance between Black and White test takers on many standardized tests Most notably Filling in the Blanks presents several new theories that address why Black students do not perform as well as their White counterparts These theories present very novel and innovative perspectives to understanding these test performance differences The book ends with a host of recommendations that are intended to address the concerns and questions of several stakeholder groups I Love History But I Hated It in School , The Politics of Civic Education Eleni M. Mantas-Kourounis,2024-06-10 This book chronicles the progression of civic education advocacy since the early 2000s It identifies the main actors that called for civic education reform describes their motivations and policy platforms and documents the path taken to capture state policy agendas It argues that No Child Left Behind incentivized civic education advocates to mobilize a call to action to restore emphasis on civics that materialized into national policy reform proposals that successfully captured the agendas of state legislatures and bureaucracies This book analyzes the implementation and sustainability of these civic education policy reforms by undertaking a comparative case study analysis of school districts in Utah and Connecticut Through the voices of teachers and district administrators the book tells the story of what happened when these state policy reforms inspired by national initiatives hit the local level where the rubber meets the road As ideological debates about schools and democracy unfold across the country as civic education advocates and proposals proliferate this book treats civic education not as panacea but as a concrete policy area to be analyzed and understood It contextualizes the current debate and offers a critical assessment of the most recent comprehensive state level civic education policy reform It argues that while questions linger about what type of civic inspired educational interventions remains most effective for whom where and why the implementation of such interventions are profoundly impacted by local actors and local politics and that future initiatives should take this dimension into consideration Digest of Education Statistics Thomas D. Making it Real Julie A. Gorlewski, David A. Gorlewski, 2012-09-05 This book provides no answer key If you are looking for one right answer go elsewhere Implicit in the current educational reform movement towards standards and standardization is the belief that the work of teachers is quantifiable that the hours and days of contact time between teachers and students can be reduced to a number that has meaning in short that there is one right answer Making it Real Case Stories for Secondary Teachers focuses not on the episodic nature of the standardized test but on those hours and days of contact time that represent the essence of what teachers do on a daily basis Within that context teachers are called upon to make hundreds of decisions each day decisions which require knowledge and expertise about planning learner development content knowledge student assessment and ethical practice among many others These decisions are not made easily and cannot be quantified because they take place in the complex world of human nature and human activity where values and priorities conflict and often clash The teachers administrators and students in Making it Real Case Stories for Secondary Teachers represent the day to day situations relationships conflicts and dilemmas that exist in every school No formulas are presented No secrets are revealed Rather the authors provide a template for analysis that encourages readers to place themselves in these real life school settings and consider the causes and consequences of their decisions for themselves their students and society as a whole
