Key words:

Direct characterisation: when the writer tells you what the character is like, e.g. "Father was strict".

Indirect characterisation: when the writer shows you what a character is like by how they speak, think and act.

...we will complete this table by choosing the words that show the same thing.

Indirect characterisation

Example: The woman kept dropping it when she left the room she knocked it off the table and onto the floor.

...we can see by its simple head - a character incessantly looking round the edge of Researching Interpretive Talk Around Literary Narrative Texts John Gordon, 2020-08-25. Drawing on a multidisciplinary approach integrating insights from conversation analysis, narrative analysis, and narratology, this book theorizes teaching around narrative prose in each level of education with a focus on a new framework of Pedagogic Literary Narration which emphasizes the practice of shared novel reading and the importance of the role of the teacher in mediating this practice. With insights taken from a comprehensive set of transcripts taken from actual classrooms, the volume focuses on the convention in native tongue literary study in which teachers and students read a novel shared over lessons combining periods of reading aloud with those of questioning and discussion. In so doing, Gordon seeks to extend existing methodologies from literary and social science research toward informing teaching practice in literary pedagogy and address the need for a theorization of literary pedagogy which considers the interrelationship between text in print and text through talk. Transcripts are supported with comprehensive analyses to help further explicate the research methodology and provide guidance on implementing it in the classroom. This book is a valuable resource for scholars in language and education, literary studies, narrative inquiry, and education research. Springer Handbook of Augmented Reality Andrew Yeh Ching Nee, Soh Khim Ong, 2023-01-01.
