Love and Ideology in the Afternoon Russell E. Mumford, 1995-08-22 Why do I like soap operas Laura Stempel Mumford asks and her answer emerges in a feminist analysis of soap opera that participates in current debates about popular culture television and ideology She argues that the conventional daytime soap has an implicit and at times explicit political agenda that cooperates in the teaching of male dominance and the related oppressions of racism classism and heterosexism so that they seem inevitable All My Children General Hospital Another World One Life to Live Days of Our Lives The Young and the Restless a close reading of their texts will also answer some larger questions about television and its place in the broad landscape of popular culture

Global Media and Communication Policy P. Iosifidis, 2011-08-26 Petros Iosifidis addresses an increasingly prominent subject area in the field of media and communications and one that has attracted increased attention in areas such as sociology economics political science and law global media policy and regulation Specifically he considers the wider social political economic and technological changes arising from the globalization of the communications industries and assesses their impact on matters of regulation and policy By focusing on the convergence of the communication and media industries he makes reference to the paradigmatic shift from a system based on the traditions of public service in broadcast and telecommunications delivery to one that is demarcated by commercialization privatization and competition In doing so Iosifidis tackles a key question in the field to what extent do new media developments require changes in regulatory philosophy and objectives It considers the various possible meanings of the public interest concept in exploring the different regulatory modes and the interplay between the local and the global in policy making
