The Making of Felony Procedure in Middle English Literature Elise Wang,2024-07-12 The Making of Felony Procedure in Middle English Literature explores the literary inheritance of criminal procedure in thirteenth to fifteenth century English law focusing on felony the gravest common law offense Most scholarship in medieval law and literature has focused on statute and theory drawing from the instantiating texts of English law acts of Parliament judicial treatises the Magna Carta But those whose job it was to write about the law rarely wrote about felony Its definition was left to its practice from investigation to conviction and that procedure fell to local communities who were generally untrained in the law Left with many practical and ethical questions and few legal answers they turned to cultural ones archived in sermons they had heard plays they had seen and poetry they knew This book reads the documents of criminal procedure coroners reports plea rolls and gaol delivery records alongside literary scenes of investigation interrogation and witnessing to tell a new intellectual history of criminal procedure s beginnings The chapters of The Making of Felony Procedure guide the reader through the steps of a felony prosecution from act to conviction examining the questions local communities faced at each step What evidence should be prioritized in a death investigation Should the accused consider narrative satisfaction when building his plea What are the dangers of a witnessing system that depends so heavily on a few oathworthy men What can a jury do if the accused s guilt seems partial or complex And what if the defendant for whatever reason refuses to participate in this new still delicate system of justice The book argues that answers they found and the sources that informed them created the system that became modern criminal procedure The epilogue offers some thoughts about the resilience and incoherence of the concept of felony from the start of the jury trial to the present day

Ezra Pound and Poetic Influence ,2021-09-13 This collection of twenty essays investigates a series of different aspects of poetic influence in relation to the major modernist poet Ezra Pound The volume commences with five essays on matters to do with translation and poetic influence which situate Ezra Pound as an important transitional figure between 19th century and 20th century translation strategies The next five essays consider different influences on Pound s poetry and introduce the reader to new research in a variety of areas including how specific Chinese cultural artefacts inform his poetry The following five essays explore Pound s influence on some of his major contemporaries such as Eugenio Montale and Charles Olson and also through the reading he gave her as a girl on his daughter Mary de Rachewiltz The concluding five essays exemplify different approaches to the thorny issue of Pound and politics and end with two diametrically opposed interpretations of Pound s political poetic thought The collection will be of great interest to scholars of Ezra Pound and of modern to postmodern poetry but it will also serve as a useful and lively introduction to some of the debates within Pound scholarship to students coming to his work for the first time
