The Economics of Telecommunication Services Pramode Verma,Fan Zhang,2020-09-25 This textbook characterizes the economics of telecommunication services from an engineering perspective The authors bring out the fundamental drivers of the industry and characterize networks from a graph theoretic perspective including random small world and scale free networks The authors relate the topology of a telecommunication network using circuit and packet switched architectures to throughput and other performance parameters The pricing model proposed in this book is based on the cost of displaced opportunity as opposed to the cost of the elements of the network engaged in delivering a service The displaced opportunity is characterized by the revenue associated with the service that the network could have alternatively delivered most efficiently using an identical level of resources The book addresses other topics such as regulation in legacy networks and net neutrality Finally the book introduces the application of game theory in a multi vendor multi services competitive marketplace The book aims to bridge the gap between the science of economics as practiced by economists and practice of pricing from a telecommunication engineer s perspective This book is suitable for use by senior undergraduate or graduate students of telecommunication engineering or researchers and practitioners in telecommunication engineering
