MY AUTOBIOGRAPHY

I am Alea Mae D. Benitez, I was born on May 7, 2000 in Pasay City, Philippines. We are two siblings in the family, I am the second child. My mother's name is Divina D. Benitez from Sorsogon, Bicol. My father's name is Nelson D. Benitez. And he is from Camarines Sur, Bicol.

During weekends, we usually spend our days in the family. We always go to church. We helped each other in our activities. My family was a happy and loving family. I had a happy childhood living with my parents and my siblings. I completed my elementary education at Don Carlos Velez Elementary School. During my junior high school, I completed my junior high school at President Corazon Aquino National High School and I usually spend my time with my friends. Since the lockdown, I have a daily routine with my friend for a Google meet until dawn, and we do various things when we do, such as talk about what is going on in our lives and watch movies that have been shown several times. We have been watched pitch perfect all seasons. I finished it several times. When I am not with them, I watch shows like Mr. Queen and Ghost Doctor. And I am a senior at Pasay City South High School, I will do everything I can to get into a good university where I can go to college.

Becoming a Reflective Librarian and Teacher Michelle Reale, 2017-10-03 Tools for Teaching in the Block Roberta Sejnost, 2009-04-29 This book provides teachers with a four-phase lesson planning framework and numerous teaching strategies to build higher-level thinking skills and increase student learning in extended class periods. Handbook of Instructional Practices for Literacy Teacher-educators Joyce E. Many, 2001-01-01 This volume offers a unique glimpse into the teaching approaches and thinking of a wide range of well-known literacy researchers and the lessons they have learned from their own teaching lives. The contributors teach in a variety of universities, programs, and settings. Each shares an approach he or she has used in a course and introduces the syllabus for this course through personal reflections that give the reader a sense of the theories, prior experiences, and influential authors that have shaped their own thoughts and approaches. In addition to describing the nature of their students and the program in which the course is taught, many authors also share key issues with which they have grappled over the years while teaching their course; others discuss considerations that were relevant during the preparation of this particular syllabus or describe how it evolved in light of student input. The book is organized by areas within literacy education: reading, English language arts, literature, emergent literacy, content area literacy, literacy assessment and instruction, literacy and technology, and inquiries into literacy theory and classroom practice. It is accompanied by an interactive Web site: <http://msit.gsu.edu/handbook>. This online resource provides additional information about the authors' courses, including complete syllabi, recommended readings, grading rubrics, and sample assignments. Readers are invited to respond and contribute their own syllabi and teaching experiences to the discourse generated by the volume. Teaching Comics and Graphic Narratives Lan Dong, 2014-01-10 The essays in this collection discuss how comics and graphic narratives can be useful primary texts and learning tools in college and university classes across different disciplines. There are six sections: American Studies, Ethnic Studies, Women's and Gender Studies, Cultural Studies, Genre Studies, and Composition, Rhetoric, and Communication. With a combination of practical and theoretical investigations, the book brings together discussions among teacher-scholars to advance the scholarship on teaching comics and graphic narratives and provides scholars with useful references, critical approaches, and particular case studies. Teaching and Learning STEM Richard M.
