Reflections in Prison Mac Maharaj, 2010-11-18 In 1976 when he was imprisoned on Robben Island Nelson Mandela secretly wrote the bulk of his autobiography Long Walk to Freedom. The manuscript was to be smuggled out by fellow prisoner Mac Maharaj on his release later that year. Maharaj also urged Mandela and other political prisoners to write essays on southern Africa's political future. These were smuggled out with Mandela's autobiography and are now published for the first time 25 years later in Reflections in Prison. This collection of essays provides a unique snapshot of the thinking of Nelson Mandela, Walter Sisulu, Govan Mbeki, Ahmed Kathrada and other leaders of the anti-apartheid struggle on the eve of the 1976 Soweto Uprising. It gives an insight into their philosophies, strategies and hopes as they debate diversity and unity, violent and non-violent forms of struggle and non-racism in the context of different interpretations of African nationalism. Each essay is preceded by a short biography of the author, a description of his life in prison and a pencil sketch by a leading black South African artist. The collection begins with a foreword by Desmond Tutu and a contextualising introduction by Mac Maharaj. These essays are far more than historical artefacts. They reveal the thinking that contributed to the South African miracle and address issues that remain burning today.

The Burden of Educational Exclusion, 2010-01-01 School was nothing but a taboo for me, concludes Johannah, a young South African, after recounting her life story. Johannah is one of the early school leavers who features in this book. Figures on participation in education in Africa show that despite government agreements and policies developed under the banner of Education for All, this remains a remote goal. In several countries, programmes on Universal Primary Education have improved access to education, but do those who enter school remain there until they have reached a suitable level? Do they acquire enough competences at primary and secondary school to survive the tough daily life in sub-Saharan countries? What happens to children and young adults who leave school early? What measures can be taken to prevent them from doing so? This book is based on research carried out in Eastern and Southern Africa by scholars from Africa and the Netherlands who cooperated within the framework of the ESLA project. The contributions to this book reflect the exchanges and discussions which took place in this research group initiated by staff of Mzumbe University in Tanzania, Uganda Martyrs University and the University of Groningen in the Netherlands. The group aims to go beyond figures and uncover the causes, effects and stories of the young people involved, as well as explore promising new strategies with which to address their needs. As early school leaving is not exclusively an African problem, a contribution on the Dutch situation is also included. The book concludes that exclusion from education has far-reaching effects, not only for the young people involved but also for the society in which they live. The burden of educational exclusion should be the joint responsibility of developing and developed countries. The authors hope the book will contribute not only to a greater understanding of the phenomenon of early school leaving but also challenge it in terms of developing policies and programmes that can prevent educational exclusion and support those who already find themselves in such a situation.

What new understandings concerning children and significant others in their life worlds have become apparent because of the HIV/AIDS pandemic? This innovative book argues that new insights on education and psychosocial aspects surface when research in the realm of HIV/AIDS is viewed through a positive psychology lens. By converging in-depth exploration and description, the book pinpoints vital persons supporting children's wellbeing and posits changed roles due to pandemic-related stressors. The significance of different education role players, children, teachers, caregivers, community members, is addressed in separate chapters using pioneering theory and empirical data that are integrated with dynamic case examples, visual data, and narratives.
