Read over the following statements. Write a number between one and five to indicate how strongly you agree or disagree with a statement. Explain after you feel that way with at least TWO sentences.

1 Strongly Disagree	2	3 Neutral	4	5 Strongly Agree
------------------------	---	--------------	---	---------------------

	STATEMENT	Rating
1	When you wake up every day, you have two choices. You can either be positive or negative, an optimist or a pessimist.
2	Walking with a friend in the dark is better than walking alone in the light.
3	It's good to stand for something, to believe in something and take your life on values.
4	The life of the dead is placed in the memory of the living.
5	Be happy for this moment. This moment is your life.

A Picture Says a Thousand Words

Still Learning to Read Franki Sibberson, Karen Szymusiak, 2016 Foreword by Colby Sharp In the decade since the first edition of Still Learning to Read was published the prevalence of testing and the Common Core State Standards have changed what is expected of both teachers and students The new edition of Still Learning to Read focuses on the needs of students in grades 3-6 in all aspects of reading workshop including reading workshop read aloud classroom design digital tools fiction nonfiction and close reading The book stays true to its original beliefs of slowing down and knowing our readers but it also takes into account the sense of urgency that changing times and standards impose on classrooms This edition examines current trends in literacy includes a new section on intentional instructional planning and provides expanded examples of mini lessons and routines that promote deeper thinking about learning It also includes a brand new chapter on scaffolding for reading nonfiction and showcases the authors latest thinking on close reading and text complexity Online videos provide glimpses into classrooms as students make book choices work in small groups and discuss their reading notebooks Expanded and updated book lists recommendations for digital tools lesson cycles and sections specifically written for school leaders round out this foundational resource

Reading and the Reference Librarian Juris Dilevko, Lisa Gottlieb, 2014-10-16 Reference librarians are no longer expected to know much about the information they find they are merely expected to find it Technological competency rather than knowledge has become the order of the day In many respects reference service has become a matter of typing search terms into a library's online catalog or a web search engine and providing the patron with the results of the search Calling for a re-intellectualization of reference librarianship this book suggests another approach to providing quality reference service reading The authors surveyed both academic reference librarians and public library reference personnel in the United States and Canada about their reading habits From the 950 responses the authors present findings about the extent to which librarians read newspapers periodicals fiction and nonfiction and recount and analyze stories about how reading has made them better librarians The authors also report that North American professors in the humanities and social sciences believe that the best reference librarians are those who have wide ranging subject based knowledge as opposed to the type of process based functional knowledge that is increasingly dominating the curricula of many Library and Information Science programs
