Proceedings of IAC-EIaT 2014 collective of authors, 2014-12-02 Conference proceedings International Academic Conference on Engineering Internet and Technology in Prague 2014 IAC EIaT 2014 in Prague Friday Saturday December 12 13 2014 New Public Management in Africa Benon C. Basheka, Lukamba-Muhiya. Tshombe, 2017-08-25 The administrative sciences have been dominated by a turn to managerial perspectives in the late 20th and early 21st centuries and in the spirit of this turn New Public Management or NPM promises to produce efficient responsible and client oriented public services The reforms carried out in the pursuit of New Public Management are often accompanied by great optimism and rapid enthusiastic steps toward implementation Even in highly developed industrial countries however these fundamental reforms often overlook the political and cultural contexts of the implementing country New Public Management in Africa Emerging Issues and Lessons provides much needed theoretical foundations for NPM reforms in the African context and reflects on the success of existing reforms in the development of several African states The individual contributions in this timely volume provide important analyses of academic discourse practical policy achievements and desiderata The book as a whole however provides a valuable impetus for public administration research in and on African states sharing findings on the results of reforms to date and adjustments required for these reforms to succeed For public administration researchers outside of Africa this book offers a review of New Public Management case studies that are unavailable or difficult to find elsewhere contributing much to the exchange between African and Western administration science research and demonstrating that African administrative research is well prepared to help resolve global challenges Problems in Paradise? Daniel Silander, 2024-01-17 Fully embracing the wide range of challenges liberal democracy has faced in recent years this book offers a deepened understanding of contemporary changes and challenges to liberal democracy ECGBL 2022 16th European Conference on Game-Based Learning Conceição Costa, 2022-10-06 The 4IR and teacher education in South Africa Felix Maringe, Otilia Chiramba, 2024-02-26 The 4IR has become an overarching framework within which education systems including teacher education are operating Contingent upon the ideology of neo liberalism the 4IR seeks to transform societies in ways which respond to the relentless developments in technology the Internet and digital capacities which by design and intent are purposed at increasing both productivity and the associated quality while at the same time reducing human intervention in the same processes In teacher education how we teach and train student teachers will be substantially influenced by the imperatives of the 4IR There are multiple unresolved questions as the 4IR takes centre stage For example what will it mean for teaching and learning in schools that have severe technological and digital deficits for teachers and students who have minimal technological literacies for delivering high quality teaching and learning for transforming both the content and pedagogies of teacher education and above all for delivering socially just educational experiences for all our learners regardless of class race and privilege The discourse of the 4IR is contemporary and requires multiple perspectives to explore what it means in different contexts and settings the understandings it engenders in people what it implies across a wide range of educational decision making levels and that its fundamental assumptions cohere with national and societal assumptions about equality equity and social justice Multiple methodological approaches were utilised in the interrogation of the idea of the 4IR in teacher education in South Africa including theoretical empirical and small scale case studies amongst others The data these approaches provide are equally valued based on the purposes for which they have been derived

A Passage of Nostalgia Martina Viljoen, 2020-12-20 Jacobus Kloppers, an eminent composer, organist, pedagogue, and scholar, significantly contributed to musicological and organ teaching in South Africa and Canada and in the latter context, art music and liturgical composition. A Passage of Nostalgia: The Life and Work of Jacobus Kloppers as a symbolic gesture constitutes recognition of his work both in South Africa and Canada. This publication is unique in that, apart from relevant disciplinary perspectives, biographical and autobiographical narrative and anecdote all constitute a necessary means through which the authors illuminate Kloppers' compositional process and its creative outcomes. In this regard, Kloppers generously dedicated his time to the project to make information on his life and work available, often in complex ways. This retrospective input supports the work offered as an authentic, self-reflective recounting of a life of dedicated service in music. The construct of nostalgia as an overarching theme to this volume, on some level, denotes Kloppers' position of cultural and religious insiderness and outsiderness. However, apart from representing a return to a lost and challenging past, the composer's creative work affirms his individuality, sense of artistic self, and propensity for spiritual acceptance and tolerance. Moreover, nostalgia in his oeuvre takes on importance as a rhetorical artistic practice by which continuity is as central as discontinuity.

The e-Government Development Discourse Kelvin J. Bwalya, 2018-12-01 This book brings out current research and practice concepts articulating the research agenda for e-Government. When e-Government was first conceived, it was designed upon basic technologies where the emphasis was only on the simple display of government information for citizens to read. Nowadays, e-Government design comprises many complicated modules such as upload and download consoles, two-way interaction consoles between citizens and government agents, integrated government business processes, presenting the whole of government, and it does not depend solely on technology. The complexity of e-Government has now evolved to include political, cultural, economic, social, and technical dimensions. Bringing all these difficult aspects together is so complicated that it needs carefully planned strategies informed by local contextual characteristics. Rather than giving formulaic definitions and conceptual standpoints on many aspects of e-Government as is the case in many e-Government publications, this book will explore the frontiers of global knowledge value chains by discussing current and future dimensions of e-Government. For example, the book discusses the concept of data governance.

by exploring how actual opening up of government data can be achieved especially in a developing world context Further the book posits that opening government data should be followed by the opening up of government business processes in order to peddle the concept of accountability and responsiveness Much text on data governance has concentrated on articulating the basic definitions surrounding this concept Another very important topic explored in this book is regarding how the concept of decolonisation can be extended to e Government by providing practical examples as to how researchers in the developing world can contribute to the advancement of e Government as a scientific field of enquiry and guide its implementation thereof Decolonisation is advocated for in e Government research so that there is a balance in the inclusion of the Afrocentric knowledge into e Government advancement other than over reliance on the Euro Asia and America centric knowledge value chains Mbembe 2015 As e Government is a very expensive undertaking the issue of funding has excluded African countries and a majority of the developing world from implementing e Government Despite funding being a critical cornerstone of e Government development there is a dearth of information on this topic Therefore this book provides a chapter which discusses traditional and innovative ways of funding e Government design and implementation which can go a long way in improving e Government penetration into the developing world Further the book explores how intelligent e Government applications can be designed especially in resource constrained countries A couple of emerging technology innovations such as fog computing and intelligent information technology are explored within the realm of e Government design

The Social Ecology of Resilience Michael Ungar,2011-10-08 More than two decades after Michael Rutter 1987 published his summary of protective processes associated with resilience researchers continue to report definitional ambiguity in how to define and operationalize positive development under adversity The problem has been partially the result of a dominant view of resilience as something individuals have rather than as a process that families schools communities and governments facilitate Because resilience is related to the presence of social risk factors there is a need for an ecological interpretation of the construct that acknowledges the importance of people s interactions with their environments The Social Ecology of Resilience provides evidence for this ecological understanding of resilience in ways that help to resolve both definition and measurement problems

Problematising Local Indigenous Community Research Allucia L. Shokane,Kelly J. Gross,2021-12-30 This book deliberates on developments related to Knowledge Pathing Multi Inter and Trans Disciplining in Social Sciences The book explores the value of this vexed concept in advancing the course for multi inter and trans disciplinary perspectives methodologies theories and epistemologies of knowledge pathing The discourse on knowledge pathing remains critical in advancing debates and dialogues in the humanities and social sciences spaces of research and studies This book makes a significant contribution to the scholarly understanding of indigenous knowledge research by focusing on problematising local indigenous community research from Afro sensed perspectives The field of indigenous knowledge research and higher education in Africa is complex Yet across the continent higher education has been the sector to least embrace Indigenous Knowledge Systems IKS or regard indigenous science as a legitimate source of inspiration for the development of youth and local communities Higher education institutions and local indigenous communities should thus generate knowledge and power through research On the other hand higher education researchers should use their research processes and skills for cross beneficiation when engaging local indigenous communities This book embodies the current discourse on decolonisation and the use of indigenous knowledge in research and is intended for research specialists in the field of indigenous knowledge systems Financial inclusion Munacinga C.

Simatele,2022-02-15 Financial inclusion has been noted as a key driver of poverty alleviation and growth Yet most of the scholarly work that exists lacks a comprehensive discussion of how the poor interact with financial services and the channels through which such services can affect their livelihoods This book offers researchers who focus on financial inclusion and African economies a one stop resource for understanding the channels of transmission for financial inclusion as well as an application of these channels through original country specific empirical papers The book provides a back to basics presentation of the transmission of financial services to growth and poverty This theoretical discussion is complemented by an empirical presentation of the various services used by the poor with a focus on Africa Case studies of financial inclusion in six African countries cover a broad range of topics most important to African countries and highlight the unique African setting These empirical papers provide important learning points Firstly hybrid financial institutions such as cooperative financial institutions and financial social entrepreneurs are the best way to increase financial inclusion in Africa They provide important vehicles to circumvent the restrictive and exclusive bank based financial markets typical of African economies Secondly digital finance is a potent tool for improving financial access and usage in Africa and its impact on poverty operates through both traditional and nontraditional financial instruments Thirdly investment in infrastructure which supports complementary markets is critical and is likely to have a greater effect on credit rationing than direct provision of credit to small businesses Trading Justice for Peace? Sigríður Guðmarsdóttir,Paulette Regan,Demaine Solomons,2022-03-01

Conflict in its various manifestations continues to be a defining feature in many places throughout the world In an attempt to address such conflict various forms of a Truth and Reconciliation Commission TRC have been introduced to facilitate the transition from social conflict to a new dispensation The introduction and subsequent proceedings of TRCs in South Africa Canada and Norway are widely regarded as good examples of this approach Against this background a number of researchers from VID Specialized University and the University of the Western Cape had an exploratory meeting in Oslo in 2018 where the possibility for a joint research project under the broad theme of discourses on reconciliation was first discussed. This led to two further research symposia in Cape Town and Troms in 2019. With the inclusion of specialists working on the Canadian Truth and Reconciliation process, these meetings demonstrated common ground and a shared understanding of the issues at stake. Moreover, it pointed to the differences between the South African, Canadian and Norwegian Commissions. In comparing the South African, Canadian and Norwegian experiences, researchers identified that these countries were in fact at different stages of their respective truth and reconciliation processes. This has prompted scholars to revisit and problematise these processes in relation to ongoing societal challenges. In all cases, it is quite apparent that reconciliation between individuals and groups remains a significant challenge.

Information knowledge and technology for Development in Africa Dennis N. Ocholla, Neil D. Evans, Johannes Britz, 2021. Information knowledge and technology occupy significant space in the information and knowledge society and ongoing debates on development such as sustainable development goals (SDGs) agenda 2030 and the fourth industrial revolution (4IR). Disruptive technologies and cyber physical systems obscuring the lines between the physical, digital and biological, escalated by the COVID 19 pandemic, present a new normal that profoundly affects the nature and magnitude of responses required to sustain and benefit from the new developments. Africa, known for its late adoption of new technologies and innovations, is leapfrogging development stages in several enviable ways. This book, Information knowledge and technology for development in Africa, written by eminent African scholars, comprises chapters that satisfactorily address information access, artificial intelligence, information ethics, e learning, library and information science education, LISE in the 4IR, data literacy and e scholarship, and knowledge management, which are increasingly essential for information access services and LISE in Africa. We expect the book to support research, teaching and learning in African higher education and worldwide for comparative scholarship.
