From the past decade, information technology advances (enabled by 5G/6G networks) (1) and (2) have significantly improved the performance of the network, and the network has become more intelligent and more efficient.

These data illustrate the potential of the proposed model for the analysis of the data from the study of the effects of the intervention on the health of the population. The model is able to identify the factors that are most likely to influence the health of the population, and to provide a clear and concise summary of the results of the study. The model is also able to identify the factors that are most likely to influence the health of the population, and to provide a clear and concise summary of the results of the study.

A Manual of Dissections of the Human Body, for the Use of Students and More Particularly for Those Preparing for the Higher Examinations in Anatomy R. E. Carrington, 1888      Multi-source, Multilingual Information Extraction and Summarization Thierry Poibeau, Horacio Saggion, Jakub Piskorski, Roman Yangarber, 2012-08-14 Information extraction IE and text summarization TS are powerful technologies for finding relevant pieces of information in text and presenting them to the user in condensed form The ongoing information explosion makes IE and TS critical for successful functioning within the information society These technologies face particular challenges due to the inherent multi source nature of the information explosion The technologies must now handle not isolated texts or individual narratives but rather large scale repositories and streams in general in multiple languages containing a multiplicity of perspectives opinions or commentaries on particular topics entities or events There is thus a need to adapt existing techniques and develop new ones to deal with these challenges This volume contains a selection of papers that present a variety of methodologies for content identification and extraction as well as for content fusion and regeneration The chapters cover various aspects of the challenges depending on the nature of the information sought names vs events and the nature of the sources news streams vs image captions vs scientific research papers etc This volume aims to offer a broad and representative sample of studies from this very active research field      Handbook of Research on Strategic Performance Management and Measurement Using Data Envelopment Analysis Osman, Ibrahim H., Anouze, Abdel Latef, Emrouznejad, Ali, 2013-08-31 Organizations can use the valuable tool of data envelopment analysis DEA to make informed decisions on developing successful strategies setting specific goals and identifying underperforming activities to improve the output or outcome of performance measurement The Handbook of Research on Strategic Performance Management and Measurement Using Data Envelopment Analysis highlights the advantages of using DEA as a tool to improve business performance and identify sources of inefficiency in public and private organizations These recently developed theories and applications of DEA will be useful for policymakers managers and practitioners in the areas of sustainable development of our society including environment agriculture finance and higher education sectors      A Manual of Dissections of the Human Body Robert Edmund Carrington, 1888      CRC Handbook of Clinical Chemistry Mario Werner, 1982      British Power Farmer and Agricultural Engineer, 1989

Evaluating Information Retrieval and Access Tasks Tetsuya Sakai, Douglas W. Oard, Noriko Kando, 2020-09-01 This open access book summarizes the first two decades of the NII Testbeds and Community for Information access Research NTCIR NTCIR is a series of evaluation forums run by a global team of researchers and hosted by the National Institute of Informatics NII Japan The book is unique in that it discusses not just what was done at NTCIR but also how it was done and the impact it has achieved For example in some chapters the reader sees the early seeds of what eventually grew to be the search engines that provide access to content on the World Wide Web today s smartphones that can tailor what they show to the needs of their owners and the smart speakers that enrich our lives at home and on the move We also get glimpses into how new search engines can be built for mathematical formulae or for the digital record of a lived human life Key to the success of the NTCIR endeavor was early recognition that information access research is an empirical discipline and that evaluation therefore lay at the core of the enterprise Evaluation is thus at the heart of each chapter in this book They show for example how the recognition that some documents are more important than others has shaped thinking about evaluation design The thirty three contributors to this volume speak for the many hundreds of researchers from dozens of countries around the world who together shaped NTCIR as organizers and participants This book is suitable for researchers practitioners and students anyone who wants to learn about past and present evaluation efforts in information retrieval information access and natural language processing as well as those who want to participate in an evaluation task or even to design and organize one
