

ACS (American Chemical Society) Style Guidelines Quick Guide

This web guide is based on the second edition of The ACS Style Guide: A Manual for Authors and Editors (1997). For a more thorough discussion refer to The ACS Style Guide which is available at the Chemistry and Engineering Libraries (Call number QD8.5.A25 1997 Reference Section).

Citing References in the Body of a Paper

References in the body of a paper can be cited:

- By number (italics)
The synthesis of the compound has been described previously (1).
- By superscript
The synthesis of the compound has been described previously.¹
- By author name and date
The synthesis of the compound has been described previously (Johnson, 1902).

With numerical citations, references should be numbered sequentially. If a reference is repeated, do not give it another number; rather, use the original reference number.

With author name citations, use both names if a reference has two authors (Jones and Smith, 2002). If there are more than two authors, use the first name followed by et al. (Harris et al., 2001).

Creating a Bibliography

- Arrange the references in your bibliography based on the method used for in-text citations. If numerical citations were used, then arrange references at the end of the paper numerically. If author names were used, arrange alphabetically.
- All references end with a period.
- Do not leave blank lines between references.
- Journal article titles and book chapter titles are not essential, but they are considered desirable.
- If a book as a whole is used, pagination is not necessary.
