Eadie, 2009-05-15 The discipline of communication has grown in popularity from the time professors of journalism and speech decided in the mid 1960s that the term communication was an excellent general descriptor for the theory and research that each group aspired to create Over time the two groups grew closer and recognized significant overlap in their theoretical and research interests but there were also differences in their traditions that kept them apart While both groups agreed that communication is a practical discipline journalism professors focused a great deal of their attention on the education of media professionals Speech professors on the other hand often were more oriented to the liberal arts and valued the fact that communication could be approached from a variety of traditions including the arts humanities social sciences and even the sciences A key term in 21st Century communication however is convergence Not only are media and technology converging with each other to produce new means of communicating but individuals are increasingly using both new and existing communication tools to create new forms of communication This convergence forces the various camps within the communication discipline to draw upon each other's theories and research methods to keep up with explaining the rapidly changing communication environment This convergence of ideas and theories provides a space to challenge conventional ways of thinking about the communication discipline and that's the goal of the SAGE 21st Century Reference Series volumes on Communication General Editor William F Eadie has sought to honor the diversity of the study of communication but also integrate that diversity into a coherent form dividing communication study into four basic properties 1 processes 2 forms and types of communication 3 characteristics to consider in creating messages and 4 relationships between communicators Via 100 chapters this 2 volume set available in both print and electronic formats highlights the most important topics issues questions and debates any student obtaining a degree in the field of communication ought to have mastered for effectiveness in the 21st Century The purpose is to provide

Preaching that Matters Lori J. Carrell, 2013-04-11 Listeners do love their pastors and they agree with the sermon content they hear Lori Carrell once explained to a group of pastors but most sermons don't ask for change and most listeners don't experience spiritual growth as a result of the sermon A participant responded Let's get practical I want my preaching to make a difference What changes are worth making and how do I make them In Preaching that Matters Lori Carrell shares answers to that question drawing on the experiences of thousands of people preachers and their listeners whose effort she has studied over many years In each chapter of this book she offers research revelations about high impact preaching that will encourage and challenge readers to continue to grow as preachers She then links these principles with Reflective Practice Challenges RPCs exercises that honor the rich experiences of pastors while opening opportunities for self analysis spiritual introspection conversation with a trusted other or implementation of research based preaching recommendations The activities have been used by hundreds of other pastors and each RPC has been carefully selected for its demonstrated contribution to the process of transforming sermon communication A selection of the RPCs are available as a downloadable file E mail resource material rowman.com for more information As a communication expert Carrell approaches preaching from a sermon communication paradigm She begins with the task of identifying the spiritually transformative purpose of the sermon and then explores exegeting organizing deepening and delivering the sermon as well as listening to the listeners and planning for continued transformation Her own goal is simple to inspire and equip clergy to make changes that will enhance the transformative power of their preaching To connect with others reading Preaching That Matters and to find an online accountability partner join the book's Google communities The Art of Public

Speaking the Truth in Love Daniel R. Berger,2007-01-01 Approaching public communication from a liberal arts point of view Speaking the Truth in Love provides a distinctly Christian perspective of rhetoric Written and oral rhetoric are interwoven throughout the text Two foundational ideas control the majority of the text The first is from Plato's Phaedrus as stated by Paul in Ephesians 4:15 speaking the truth in love The second is from the Apostle Peter in 1 Peter 4:11 if anyone speaks he should do it as one speaking the very words of God The spiritual responsibility of communicating truth in accordance with the nature of God especially the virtue of love is an awesome privilege and opportunity Sound content spoken or written eloquently with charisma will enable words to have a maximum impact The text is designed to be a culminating learning experience for undergraduate communication programs or as an introductory text for graduate programs involving public communication Beginning with a philosophy of language meaning and interaction argument is built against secular deconstructive thought where everyone has a different truth based on language Alongside philosophy we explore ethics and theology from an evangelical perspective Following this a brief history outlines rhetorical thought from pre testament classics to today Based upon these ideas we take a closer look at communication theory as it relates to public communication Finally the text addresses the practice of both written and oral communication
