Great Awakening (from Africans in America: Revolution: 1750-1805):
<http://player.discoveryeducation.com/index.cfm?productId=E72CE3C5-B429-4867-B099-FCE2BC055C99>

Elicit from students: According to the video, what was the Great Awakening? What was appealing about the religious messages that were spreading in the early 1700s?

2. Mini-lecture: Powerpoint lecture. Introduce central historical question: Why was George Whitefield so popular?
3. Cognitive modeling: Hand out Document A and put transparency on overhead. Begin modeling SOURCING AND CONTEXTUALIZATION.

The first thing we want to do is source the document to see what I can find about the author's perspective. I see that this was written in 1793, over 50 years after the Great Awakening, so I'm not sure how reliable this is. Maybe Franklin's memory of hearing Whitefield differs from what actually happened. I know that memory is often inaccurate. It's hard to predict what Franklin will say about Whitefield: on the one hand, they're friends, so he probably won't say bad things. On the other hand, I know that Ben Franklin really believed in Enlightenment ideas and reason, so I don't think he would have bought into the whole revival aspect of the Great Awakening. I don't really know what to predict at this point.

Teaching Literature in Translation Brian James Baer, Michelle Woods, 2022-07-29 The teaching of texts in translation has become an increasingly common practice but so too has the teaching of texts from languages and cultures with which the instructor may have little or no familiarity The authors in this volume present a variety of pedagogical approaches to promote translation literacy and to address the distinct phenomenology of translated texts The approaches set forward in this volume address the nature of the translator's task and how texts travel across linguistic and cultural boundaries in translation including how they are packaged for new audiences with the aim of fostering critical reading practices that focus on translations as translations The organizing principle of the book is the specific pedagogical contexts in which translated texts are being used such as courses on a single work survey courses on a single national literature or a single author and courses on world literature Examples are provided from the widest possible variety of world languages and literary traditions as well as modes of writing prose poetry drama film and religious and historical texts with the aim that many of the pedagogical approaches and strategies can be easily adapted for use with other works and traditions An introductory section by the editors Brian James Baer and Michelle Woods sets the theoretical stage for the volume Written and edited by authorities in the field of literature and translation this book is an essential manual for all instructors and lecturers in world and comparative literature and literary translation Knoxy
