David Livingstone Leslie Stephen Richard Burton and other members of the newly founded Royal Geographical Society and Alpine Club As Britain's reach over the far flung parts of the world grew so did the interest in exploring the earth's remotest corners When Whymper set out from Zermatt for the summit of the Matterhorn on 14 July 1865 on his ninth attempt British explorers had enjoyed an uninterrupted winning streak of luck That day would mark the end Of the seven of his team only Whymper and two Swiss guides would return alive Whymper's team beat an Italian team exploring the same new approach and couldn't believe their luck that it led so easily to the summit Once there they pelted the Italians who turned and fled Disaster struck Whymper on the way down however and the mysterious circumstances of the death of the three Brits a heartthrob an aristocrat and a nineteen year old spread like wildfire around the world It made Whymper's and Zermatt's names world famous and Whymper's book on the ascent an instant classic

The Matterhorn Ferdinand Kämpfer, 2019-12-16 On 14th July 1865 two competing rope teams made their way to the summit of the Matterhorn The mountain was considered invincible until Italians and Britons had the iron will to climb the colossus in the middle of the 19th century The team around the British alpinist Edward Whymper won the race It was sensational that for the first time people boarded the Matterhorn for good But his rough aura was to take revenge when the men descended the mountain four of the seven climbers fell into the abyss which is why the first ascent heralded the end of the Golden Age of Alpinism What exactly happened in the crash This commemorative volume keeps the memory alive
