Blogger or Journalist?

Evaluating What Is the Press in the Digital Age Tracy Brown, 2012-12-15 From the Introduction The days of relying on the newspaper delivery boy to deliver information to households are long over The Internet and mobile phone technologies have changed how information is gathered and delivered in ways that can't be overstated They have allowed people worldwide to gather share and access news as it's happening The Internet and sites such as Facebook and YouTube have made it possible for anyone to reach a broad global audience and for anyone with a computer to be a news provider There is an enormous amount of content available online on just about any topic Viewers and readers must weed through this information to find sources that they trust and that they can rely on in the same way that people read their daily paper or watch their favorite television news broadcast The difference is the people who write for newspapers or television news are journalists people whose job it is to research and deliver news to the public When you go online you find content from lots of different people many of whom are not actual journalists but interested citizens who want to share information with the public much like journalists do These non-journalists include writers of blogs and producers of independent news stories people who are not working for official media outlets like established news channels or publications Here we will look at the differences between journalists and this new breed of news providers We will discuss what professional standards journalists must follow that bloggers are not bound to as well as what laws protect journalists but do not offer the same protection for non-journalists Also discussed will be the roles different types of news providers serve in society and how our definition of journalism is changing The purpose is to help consumers of online news better understand where the news they read is coming from what news they can trust how to tell the difference between fact and opinion and how to put together everything they read to form their own ideas about current events and then perhaps even to share their ideas in their own online publications or blogs

Writing Broadcast News Mervin Block, 1997 The author offers clear advice and examples on broadcast journalism and elements that distinguish writing for broadcast news from writing for print sources

Computing Attitude and Affect in Text: Theory and Applications James G. Shanahan, Yan Qu, Janyce Wiebe, 2006-01-17 Human Language Technology HLT and Natural Language Processing NLP systems have typically focused on the factual aspect of content analysis Other aspects including pragmatics opinion and style have received much less attention However to achieve an adequate understanding of a text these aspects cannot be ignored The chapters in this book address the aspect of subjective opinion which includes identifying different points of view identifying different emotive dimensions and classifying text by opinion Various conceptual models and computational methods are presented The models explored in this book include the following distinguishing attitudes from simple factual assertions distinguishing between the author's reports from reports of other people's opinions and distinguishing between explicitly and implicitly stated attitudes In addition many applications are described that promise to benefit from the ability to understand attitudes and affect including indexing and retrieval of documents by opinion automatic question answering about opinions analysis of sentiment in the media and in discussion groups about consumer products political issues etc brand and reputation management discovering and predicting consumer and voting trends analyzing client discourse in therapy and counseling determining relations between scientific texts by finding reasons for citations generating more appropriate texts and making agents more believable and creating writers aids The studies reported here are carried out on different languages such as English French Japanese and Portuguese Difficult challenges remain however It can be argued that analyzing attitude and affect in text is an NLP complete problem The Micro-historian's Guide to Research, Evidence, & Conclusions Reginald W. Bacon, 2019-09-18 The Micro Historian s Guide to Research Evidence Conclusions imparts useful guidance to motivated historians genealogists special interest researchers and local history enthusiasts As long buried sources become available via the internet more regular folks without a Ph D in history are joining the fun of information gathering and shining new light on under explored history yet often with no foundation of method The author answers the call with this volume paying forward the guidance received from long ago mentors as well as from present day historians and archivists Topics include research planning execution evaluation of evidence formulation of conclusions and the crafting of a summary narrative Each topic is enriched by practical examples from the author s experience The aim is to help the new practitioner build a foundation of research skills that leads to evidence based conclusions The author s perspective of experience as a disciplined researcher but also with roots as a no nonsense old school newspaper reporter occasionally prompts a mild tease of the buttoned down genealogy proof standard or conversely a deflating poke at flabby interpretation and moribund academic writing wherever it may fester The Micro Historian s Guide to Research Evidence Conclusions draws theory from dozens of history genealogy historiography and research giants through the ages The book also pays tribute to that long ago cigar chomping newspaper editor who admonished a young reporter Yer mother sez she loves ya You still gotta check it out Writing To Inform And Engage Conrad C. Fink, 2019-04-18 Designed with the beginning journalism student in mind this undergraduate textbook for fledgling reporters is a reference guide and an instructive text full of real world examples and writing exercises Conrad C Fink a long time reporter and bureau chief with the Associated Press leads journalism students through the basics of news writing fo

UPI Style Book & Guide to Newswriting Harold Martin, Bruce Cook, 2004 From the editors and reporters of United Press International an authoritative easy to use and comprehensive guide to print and broadcast writing Copywriting that Sells High Tech Janice M. King, 2006 Public Affairs Reporting Now George Killenberg, 2012-07-26 Everyday life no whether the issues or events arise next door or a continent away raises questions and concerns that the public counts on journalists to answer and more important confront More than ever before we all rely on the news media for warnings explanations and insights The profession and society cannot afford lazy inept uncommitted journalists Today s reporters must learn how to cover public affairs intelligently and thoroughly First you must learn about the institutions and people who influence the news understanding how a legislative conference committee functions or how a trial is conducted remain important pre requisites But it is not enough merely to know how to report Journalists must also understand how they see define and influence the news Don t be fooled by the daily dose of fluffy stories about fads fashions or fetishes People love to revel in celebrity gossip or fantasize about extreme makeovers But Donald Trump s love life or the South Beach Diet don t satisfy when people worry about a home invasion in their neighborhood or a rezoning proposal to bring a Wal Mart super center to town or a Department of Education report that their child s school scored bottom most in reading achievement Public Affairs Reporting Now is intended to teach you the best practices and give you the best advice for covering what s generically known as public affairs reporting It s a term that s neither inspiring nor precise but it s long been a convenient way of describing the kind of news coverage that keeps people informed as citizens and keeps our institutions public and private focused on the public good
