

Laboratory Activity #1 — Student Laboratory Packet

Relationships and BiodiversityA Laboratory Activity for the Living EnvironmentIntroduction

Botana curus is a valuable plant because it produces Curol, a compound used for treating certain kinds of cancer. Curol cannot be produced in the laboratory. Botana curus grows very slowly and is on the endangered species list, so its ability to provide Curol in large quantities is limited.

Species that are more closely related to Botana curus are more likely to produce the important substance Curol. Three similar plant species that are plentiful (X, Y, and Z) may be related to Botana curus. You will work as a researcher to:

- gather structural and molecular evidence to determine which plant species is most closely related to the hypothetical species, Botana curus
- use this evidence to decide which plant species is most likely to serve as a source of the important substance Curol

Safety

- You will need to wear goggles while conducting Tests 4 and 5.
- Do not eat or drink anything in the laboratory while doing this laboratory activity.

Important Note: Record all of your data and answers on these laboratory sheets. You will need to keep them for review before the Regents Examination. Later, you will need to transfer your answers to a separate Student Answer Packet. Your teacher will use the packet in grading your work, and the school will retain it as evidence of your completion of the laboratory requirement for the Living Environment Regents Examination.

Structural Evidence for Relationships

Perform the following tests and record your observations in Table 1 on page 8 of this packet. Use a hand lens or microscope as needed.

Test 1—Structural Characteristics of Plants

- Do not remove the plant samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the plant samples. Record your observations in Table 1 (see page 8).

Test 2—Structural Characteristics of Seeds

- Do not remove the seed samples from the plastic bags/cards.
- Compare the structural characteristics of the seed samples. Record your observations in Table 1.

The Cross Domain City of the Future Graduation Lab, situated in the Faculty of Architecture and the Built Environment at TU Delft, has been a pioneer in experimenting with a multidisciplinary approach to education on the built environment. Drawing upon this expertise over the past years, this book reflects on multidisciplinary in the built environment and its implementation in education on the built environment. How should one approach multidisciplinary in education and practice? What encompasses its core elements, benefits, and challenges? By addressing these questions, the book aims to inform students and practitioners within the realm of the built environment by sharing insights from experiences in multidisciplinary education It presents eight conclusions regarding the future of multidisciplinary education and thereby seeks to contribute to a more humane and sustainable future for cities Process is central to multidisciplinary collaboration Negotiating positions ensuring an environment of respect balance and open mindedness and setting a common vocabulary Multidisciplinarity can be a way to foster innovation It triggers complementarity and confrontation As with any innovation there is potential for greater outcomes but at the same time extra risks emerge These need to be managed Multidisciplinarity could be better integrated into organisational structures Disciplinarity and multidisciplinarity are in mutual coexistence They are inseparable They can complement and contradict each other Problem precedes solution not the opposite Framing the problem or problematizing is a considerable share of the actual solution This is particularly applicable to multidisciplinarity Multidisciplinarity is by nature composed of fluid boundaries Navigating through an enormous diversity of perspectives requires agility flexibility independence spirit of adventure and embracing uncertainty Professionals should be trained as T shape grounded in their field while able to dialogue with other fields Both generalists and specialists are needed Education should provide opportunities for both Ag in the Classroom Notes ,1996 EPA Publications Bibliography United States.
