the 2007 summer floods in the United Kingdom WRNDs are more serious in Southeast Asia particularly in Southwest China where many places suffer from such disasters in the flood season every year such as the May 20th 2012 flash flood debris flow among the hit area of Wenchuan earthquake the June 24th 2017 Xinmo Catastrophic landslide in Mao county and in 2018 the two sequential landslide dammed lake events at Jinsha River These WRNDs not only cause heavy casualties and property losses but also destroy the ecological environment These WRNDs are not only the concern of government managers and engineers but also deserve more in depth study from researchers Formation and evolution mechanisms of WRNDs are very complicated and influenced by several aspects such as geological and topographical conditions hydrometeorological conditions geomaterial properties rainfall history and flow condition and others Field and laboratory tests can help us to better understand the related mechanism behind the disasters Theoretical and empirical models modeling and numerical methods can provide more reasonable evaluation and forecasting results of WRNDs but a more in depth understanding is needed Furthermore for the risk control and hazard prevention and mitigation new equipment and technologies have been developed and have achieved some progress in recent years but the fast and effective emergency treatments for WRNDs need more attention

A Creole Lexicon Jay Edwards, Nicolas Kariouk Pecquet du Bellay de Verdon, 2004-09 Throughout Louisiana's colonial and postcolonial periods there evolved a highly specialized vocabulary for describing the region's buildings people and cultural landscapes This creolized language a unique combination of localisms and words borrowed from French Spanish English Indian and Caribbean sources developed to suit the multiethnic needs of settlers planters explorers builders surveyors and government officials Today this historic vernacular is often opaque to historians architects attorneys geographers scholars and the general public who need to understand its meanings With A Creole Lexicon Jay Edwards and Nicolas Kariouk provide a highly organized resource for its recovery Here are definitions for thousands of previously lost or misapplied terms including watercraft and land vehicles furniture housetypes unique to Louisiana people and social categories Drawn directly from travelers accounts historic maps and legal documents the volume s copious entries document what would actually have been heard and seen by the peoples of the Louisiana territory Newly produced diagrams and drawings as well as reproductions of original eighteenth and nineteenth century documents and Historic American Buildings Surveys enhance understanding Sixteen subject indexes list equivalent English words for easy access to appropriate Creole translations A Creole Lexicon is an invaluable resource for exploring and preserving Louisiana s cultural heritage The Informatics Handbook S.A. Fist, 2012-12-06 This is not a dictionary and nor is it an encyclopedia It is a reference and compendium of useful information about the converging worlds of computers communications telecommunications and broadcasting You could refer to it as a guide for the Information Super Highway but this would be pretentious It aims to cover most of the more important terms and concepts in the developing discipline of Informatics which in my definition includes the major converging technologies and the associated social and cultural issues Unlike a dictionary this handbook makes no attempt to be prescriptive in its definitions Many of the words we use today in computing and communications only vaguely reflect their originations And with such rapid change older terms are often taken twisted inverted and mangled to the point where any attempt by me to lay down laws of meaning would be meaningless The information here is descriptive I am concerned with usage only This book therefore contains keywords and explanations which have been culled from the current literature from technical magazines newspapers the Internet forums etc This is the living language as it is being used today not a historical artifact of 1950s computer science EQ. ,1991
