Organized around the theme of American communities Out of Many is a blend of social and political history that reveals the geographical racial and economic diversity of the United States with a special focus on the country's regions especially the West. Instead of looking at the country as a homogenous whole the authors break down the country into more meaningful and manageable building blocks the individual the community the state and the region. Showing these interplays between the individuals and groups and the groups and the regions each chapter of the text will help students understand the textured and varied history that has produced the increasing complexity of America.

Founding Myths Ray Raphael, 2014-07-04 First published ten years ago award winning historian Ray Raphael's Founding Myths has since established itself as a landmark of historical myth busting. With the author's trademark wit and flair Founding Myths exposes the errors and inventions in America's most cherished tales from Paul Revere's famous ride to Patrick Henry's Liberty or Death speech. For the seventy thousand readers who have been captivated by Raphael's eye opening accounts history has never been the same. In this revised tenth anniversary edition Raphael revisits the original myths and explores their further evolution over the past decade uncovering new stories and peeling back additional layers of misinformation. This new edition also examines the highly politicized debates over America's past as well as how school textbooks and popular histories often reinforce rather than correct historical mistakes. A book that explores the truth behind the stories of the making of our nation National Public Radio this revised edition of Founding Myths will be a welcome resource for anyone seeking to separate historical fact from fiction.
