Zulu Poems For Matric:

Marking Matric Vijay Reddy, 2006 The past ten years in South Africa has seen many changes in education the creation of a single department of education common examinations for all learners in public schools in the country a new outcomes based education curriculum which was introduced to learners in the general education and training phase since 1998 and will be introduced to the further education and training phase from 2006 To evaluate the success of these changes South African researchers still use the indicator of student achievement The matriculation examination is the visible high profile and public performance indicator Every year parents learners teachers researchers government officials policymakers and the general public get involved in the debate around the matric examination with the most frequently asked questions being Did the pass rate go up Are standards dropping Are the results real or have they been manipulated How is our education system doing Are we meeting the development goals What should the matriculation examination of the future look like participants from government national and provincial Language, Text and the Southern African Context ,1994

Zulu, 2005

William Zulu has a natural flair for storytelling and his writing is informed and articulate His wryly observant eye offers a fascinating window to the world of traditional Africa with all its superstition patriarchal rigidity and prejudices on the one hand and its humour shrewd observance and innovative survival strategies on the other Reading his story one is left with a vivid sense of the rural African battles for survival that pit ingenuity against lack of resources and of the redemptive power of ubuntu demonstrated in the kindness of strangers of all races who extend helping hand and heart in the midst of spiritual and physical destitution Spring Will Come is a story that lives up to its title BOOK JACKET Journal of Humanities , 1990
