Cinema and the Indian National Emergency, 2025-07-24 The Indian National Emergency of 1975 to 1977 saw the suspension of civil liberties, increasing censorship and extra judicial state control. It is recognised as one of the most tumultuous periods in the history of postcolonial India and its socio political consequences have been exhaustively studied. Despite this, the profound cinematic implications of this event have remained relatively unexplored. This book examines the strained relationship between the state and the Indian film industry during this 21 month period of political upheaval. Each of the essays written from a broad range of critical perspectives consider the various modes of state suppression adopted from increasing levels of film censorship to police surveillance of film productions and exhibitions. Contributors analyse controversial films such as Aandhi 1975 and Nasbandi 1978 which were banned for the duration of the Emergency and overtly political films such as Kissa Kursi Ka 1977 the prints of which were permanently confiscated owing to the film's criticisms of the state. They also consider the political and aesthetic dilemmas of state sponsored films such as Ashadh Ka Ek Din 1971 which was made to be explicitly apolitical and came to be known as a key work of New Indian Cinema.
