The European Union and the Evolving Architectures of International Economic Agreements Ottavio Quirico, Katarzyna Kwapisz Williams, 2023-07-25 The European Union EU is promoting a suite of innovations in international economic regulation among them reforms for secure and sustainable investment a comprehensive approach to the mutual recognition of professional qualifications a viable carbon border adjustment mechanism heightened intellectual property rights protection the arm s length principle in taxation and an increased commitment to non economic values Through a critical analysis of key regulations and policies this volume explores the evolving architectures of international economic agreements in light of EU practice A comprehensive analysis indicates that novelties are rooted in geoeconomic considerations through which a fundamental shift is underway towards the adoption of comprehensive bilateral trade agreements Whilst innovation has the potential to significantly harmonise cross border regulatory frameworks it can also trigger significant fractures particularly when applied restrictively and asymmetrically Arguably the Brussels effect will to a certain extent foster a progressive development of international economic regulation while in some respects being constrained by the status quo of the international economic regime This volume is part of the Jean Monnet project Third Country Engagement with EU Trade Policy led by the ANU Centre for European Studies at the Australian National University and supported by the European Commission under the Erasmus actions The project seeks to explore and improve understanding of the EU's evolving trade policy and its implications for third countries including Australia and countries in the Asia Pacific region The Principle of Systemic Integration Gabriel Orellana Zabalza, 2012 This dissertation analyzes whether or not the principle of systemic integration as expounded in Article 31.3 c of the Vienna Convention on the Law of Treaties contributes to attainment of a coherent international legal system For this purpose the book considers three general ideas the unity of the international legal system and fragmentation the general rule on treaty interpretation and the principle of systemic integration and the role of systemic integration in the achievement of coherence Each one involves specific issues and considerations which ultimately assist in addressing the main question as to the usefulness of the principle in the curtailment of fragmentation in the international legal system Dissertation Series Cologne Studies in International and European Law Kolner Schriften zum internationalen und europaischen Recht Vol 24

Coherence and Divergence in Services Trade Law Rhea Tamara Hoffmann, Markus Krajewski, 2020-07-23 This book addresses topical questions concerning the legal framework of trade in services and assesses how these issues are dealt with in GATS and in selected preferential trade agreements In addition the chapters discuss whether the differences and similarities if any are evidence of greater coherence or greater divergence The book combines the individual analyses to provide a more comprehensive picture of the current law on services trade liberalisation A quarter of a century after the conclusion of the General Agreement on Trade and Services GATS international law on trade in services is still in a state of flux on the one hand countries increasingly conclude bilateral and regional trade agreements with sections on trade in services that aim at a further liberalisation of services trade On the other the GATS structure remains the dominant model and serves as the basis for many preferential trade agreements In addition new aspects such as electronic commerce data protection and taxation are now emerging while issues that had already manifested in the mid 1990s such as financial services regulation labour mobility and telecommunications continue to be problematic Usually the debates focus on the question of whether preferential trade agreements serve as a stepping stone or stumbling block for trade liberalisation at the multilateral level However it can be assumed that rules on trade in services in preferential trade agreements will coexist with the global GATS regime for the foreseeable future This raises the question of whether we are currently witnessing a drive towards greater coherence or more divergence in agreements on trade in services Law and policy in international business, 2001
