Future Prospects Wilson Luquire, 1983 Experts who are active in national state and regional network associations provide stimulating discussions of their experiences problems and successes. This volume is based on the symposium Networking Where From Here Library Networking Pat Molholt, 1988 This report which considers the role of networking activities associated with the technical telecommunication links that bind libraries services and patrons together begins with a historical review of libraries and automation based systems over the last 19 years. The importance of the development and implementation of standards in interactive library activities for librarians using state or regional telecommunications networks is then discussed including such factors as the need for increased functionality performance reliability consistent user assistance access and participation in governance. Also discussed are the activities of the various regional networks involved in the Linked Systems Project lsp including the development of standards for information transfer between systems via the telecommunications standard known as the Open Systems Interconnection osi. The development of the Office of Library Program s leadership role in interlibrary cooperation especially in the application of federal funding to inter and intra state cooperative programs for resource sharing is also described A concluding statement briefly discusses a number of issues currently involved in networking and 10 recommendations are offered for the guidance of the Office of Library Programs in working toward the development of an underlying information infrastructure parallel with the telecommunications infrastructure being created by the National Science Foundation nsf and other federal agencies 5 references cgd

Continuing Education of Reference Librarians William A. Katz, 1990 Here is a crucial book on the neglected issue of continuing education of reference librarians For librarians seeking to enhance and maintain a high level of quality reference work and for managers who must assure that their staffs receive the basics in continuing education this is essential reading Continuing Education of Reference Librarians addresses the concerns of all librarians that they must be informed and educated in order to excel in their work In the first several chapters of this comprehensive volume on the job librarians focus on the increased need for nontraditional approaches to continuing education and training of reference staff They offer practical ways of making additional training both useful and relatively easy to carry out within the library setting Teachers of reference offer suggestions for contending with current formal courses and they also examine the responsibilities of not only the reference librarian but also the bibliographer and faculty member in staying abreast of current trends Also in this broad based look at continuing education is a list of critical skills most librarians expect of their reference people including reference interview techniques mastery of basic reference sources and an understanding of new technologies a review of the most revolutionary change in teaching reference librarianship in the last 100 years the online search and a discussion on ethics including the need for librarians to be aware of the basic documents of the American Library Association and more importantly the need to treat all library users equally in terms of access and service regardless of status and personal prejudice Continuing Education of Reference Librarians focuses on specific types of training for librarians Authorities explain pioneering programs in California and Maryland which deal with teaching basic reference tools to beginning librarians and paraprofessionals They also discuss the role of multitype networks in continuing education as the most cost and time efficient means available today and the use of self directed contract learning as a method that requires long term planning and rewards in contrast to the immediate results of a short term plan of education The management perspective of continuing education is also included Working library directors offer their observations on sound inspirational approaches to continuing education They also examine the critical role department heads play as mentor to beginning reference librarians

Computer Applications to Library Kole Lambert, A library computer system is the software used to catalog track circulation where appropriate and inventory a library s assets It is intended for home church private enterprise and other small to medium sized collections Larger libraries typically use an integrated library system to manage the more complex activities such as acquisitions interlibrary loan and licensing online resources With distributed software the customer can choose to self install or to have the system installed by the vendor on their own hardware The customer can be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the application and the data or the customer can choose to be supported by the vendor with an annual maintenance contract Some vendors charge for upgrades to the software Customers who subscribe to a web hosted service upload data to the vendors remote server through the Internet and may pay a periodic fee to access their data Modern libraries are constituted within and by a tradition of techniques and practices that represent a hundred years of codified professional knowledge This book provides a historical overview of this tradition that created a complex environment of expectation and misunderstanding for introducing library automation This book attempts to delineate and discuss the applications of the computer that have been behind the technological revolution of library science The aim of the book is to mainly enhance the readers understanding of the ways in which computers have heralded the invasion of technology into library science with special attention to the emergence of digital libraries which promise to make libraries and their information completely at the mercy of our fingertips
