Leaving Anthony Stavrianakis, 2020-04-28 The first book length anthropological study of voluntary assisted dying in Switzerland Leaving is a narrative account of five people who ended their lives with assistance Stavrianakis places his observations of the judgment to end life in this way within a larger inquiry about how to approach and understand the practice of assisted suicide which he characterizes as operating in a political legal and medical paragon adjacent to medical care and expertise Frequently observers too rapidly integrate assisted suicide into moral positions that reflect sociological and psychological commonplaces about individual choice and its social determinants Leaving engages with core early twentieth century psychoanalytic and sociological texts arguing for a contemporary approach to the phenomenon of voluntary death seeking to learn from such conceptual repertoires as well as to acknowledge their limits Leaving concludes on the anthropological question of how to account for the ethics of assistance with suicide to grasp the actuality and composition of the ethical work that goes on in the configuration of a subject one who is making a judgment about dying with other participants and observers the anthropologist included

Time to Die Rodney Syme, 2017-02-27 Medical science now allows us to live longer than ever before So living with pain and dying well have become major concerns for the general community health practitioners church groups and politicians Should these issues be decided in private by individuals or must we legislate ethical guidelines Rodney Syme has been an advocate for medically assisted dying for more than twenty years In Time to Die he reflects on those living and dying in pain and shares their stories Syme makes a powerful case for extending the right to die to those whose suffering is unbearable The search for meaning in later life Nienke P. M. Fortuin, 2020 The search for meaning in later life An empirical exploration of religion and death draws on thorough qualitative and quantitative research among older Dutch adults The scarcity of vital narratives of ageing and the fragmentation of religious grand narratives appear to complicate their search for meaning Moreover increased longevity and the medicalisation of death challenge many older adults to decide about the right timing of death This study qualitatively and quantitatively explores narratives of ageing and of religion expressed by older Dutch adults and their attitudes toward death euthanasia and life prolongation A Companion to the Anthropology of Death Antonius C. G. M. Robben, 2018-05-11 A thought provoking examination of death dying and the afterlife Prominent scholars present their most recent work about mortuary rituals grief and mourning genocide cyclical processes of life and death biomedical developments and the materiality of human corpses in this unique and illuminating book Interrogating our most common practices surrounding death the authors ask such questions as How does the state wrest away control over the dead from bereaved relatives Why do many mourners refuse to cut their emotional ties to the dead and nurture lasting bonds Is death a final condition or can human remains acquire agency The book is a refreshing reassessment of these issues and practices a source of theoretical inspiration in the study of death With contributions written by an international team of experts in their fields A Companion to the Anthropology of Death is presented in six parts and covers such subjects as Governing the Dead in Guatemala After Death Communications ADCs in North America Cryonic Suspension in the Secular Age Blood and Organ Donation in China The Fragility of Biomedicine and more A Companion to the Anthropology of Death is a comprehensive and accessible volume and an ideal resource for senior undergraduate and graduate students in courses such as Anthropology of Death Medical Anthropology Anthropology of Violence Anthropology of the Body and Political Anthropology Written by leading international scholars in their fields A comprehensive survey of the most recent empirical research in the anthropology of death A fundamental critique of the early 20th century founding fathers of the anthropology of death Cross cultural texts from tribal and industrial societies The collection is of interest to anyone concerned with the consequences of the state and massive violence on life and death Life or Death Daniel J. Baum, 2015-08-22 A understandable overview of the laws regarding euthanasia end of life treatment and medication of those who may be unable to decide for themselves if the treatment is necessary Our bodies are ours to control free from state interference or so it appears The Charter of Rights and Freedoms provides Everyone has the right to life liberty and security of the person and the right not to be deprived thereof except in accordance with the principles of fundamental justice But how absolute is this Do parents have the final decision in determining the medical care of their children even if that choice may mean death May children override the choices of their parents as to medical care What role if any does the state or the courts have in reviewing individual medical choices even if those choices are made by an adult but could result in death Can physicians insist that their patients must have certain medical treatments Do the terminally ill have the right to ask for assistance in dying These are among the questions upon which Canadian judges must rule When and how they reach decisions are explored in Life or Death A Matter of Choice Social Death Jana Králová, Tony Walter, 2018-04-19 Social death occurs when the social existence of a person or group ceases With an individual it can occur before or after physical death Scholars in a wide range of disciplines have applied the concept to very diverse issues including genocide slavery dementia hospitalisation and bereavement Social death relates to social exclusion social capital social networks social roles and social identity but its theorising is not united scholars in one field are often unaware of its use in other fields This is the first book to bring a range of perspectives together in a pioneering effort to bring to the field conceptual clarity rooted in empirical data Preceded by an original theoretical discussion of the concept of social death contributions from the UK Romania Sweden and Israel analyse the fourth age end of life policies dying alone at home suicide photographs on gravestones bereavement and the agency of dead musicians This book was originally published as a special issue of Contemporary Social Science What Kind of Death Govert den Hartogh, 2022-10-31 Many books have been published about physician assisted death This book offers a comprehensive and in depth examination of that subject but it also extends the discussion to a broader range of end of life decisions including suicide palliative care and sedation until death In every jurisdiction that has laws permitting some kind of physician assisted death a central point of controversy is whether such assistance should only be available to dying patients or to everyone who wants to end his life The right to determine the manner and time of one's own death however does not necessarily mean that physicians should be permitted to cooperate in ensuring a quick and peaceful death In this book Govert den Hartogh considers the fundamental and practical matters including concrete issues of legal regulation related to end of life decision making He proposes a two tiered system Everyone should have access to humane means of ending his life if his decision to end it is voluntary well considered and durable But doctors should only participate in a joint action of ending the patient's life on his request if they also are convinced of acting in the patient's best interests in particular by ending intolerable and unrelievable suffering And perhaps there is reason to restrict that second service to dying patients The whole argument however depends on the extent to which in both tiers of the system we can design legal safeguards that will enable us to trust judgments about the requesting person's request and about his suffering The book considers much new evidence in regard to this issue What Kind of Death will appeal to researchers and advanced students working in bioethics applied ethics philosophy of law and health law Debating Euthanasia Emily Jackson, John Keown, 2011-12-02 In this new addition to the Debating Law series Emily Jackson and John Keown re-examine the legal and ethical aspects of the euthanasia debate Emily Jackson argues that we owe it to everyone in society to do all that we can to ensure that they experience a good death For a small minority of patients who experience intolerable and unrelievable suffering this may mean helping them to have an assisted death In a liberal society where people's moral views differ we should not force individuals to experience deaths they find intolerable This is not an argument in favour of dying On the contrary Jackson argues that legalisation could extend and enhance the lives of people whose present fear of the dying process causes them overwhelming distress John Keown argues that voluntary euthanasia and physician assisted suicide are gravely unethical and he defends their continued prohibition by law He analyses the main arguments for relaxation of the law including those which invoke the experience of jurisdictions which permit these practices and finds them wanting Relaxing the law would he concludes be both wrong in principle and dangerous in practice not least for the dying the disabled and the disadvantaged Bioethics, Medicine and the
