The Invisible Man H. G. Wells, 2021-03-05 The Invisible Man is an 1897 science fiction novella by H G Wells Wells novel was originally serialised in Pearson s Magazine in 1897 and published as a novel the same year The Invisible Man of the title is Griffin a scientist who theorises that if a person s refractive index is changed to exactly that of air and his body does not absorb or reflect light then he will be invisible He successfully carries out this procedure on himself but cannot become visible again becoming mentally unstable as a result The Invisible Man H. G. Wells, 2010 The Invisible Man H. G. Wells, 2010-10-05 From the twentieth century s first great practitioner of the novel of ideas comes a consummate masterpiece of science fiction about a man trapped in the terror of his own creation A stranger emerges out of a freezing February day with a request for lodging in a cozy provincial inn Who is this out of season traveler More confounding is the thick mask of bandages obscuring his face Why is he disguised in such a manner What keeps him hidden in his room The villagers aroused by trepidation and curiosity bring it upon themselves to find the answers What they discover is not only a man trapped in the terror of his own creation but a chilling reflection of the unsolvable mysteries of their own souls My fantastic stories do not pretend to deal with possible things They aim indeed only at the same amount of conviction as one gets in a gripping good dream H G Wells With an Introduction by W Warren Wagar and an Afterword by Scott Westerfeld The Time Machine / The Invisible Man H. G. Wells, 2007-10-02 Together in one indispensable volume The Time Machine and The Invisible Man are masterpieces of irony and imaginative vision from H G Wells the father of science fiction The Time Machine conveys the Time Traveller into the distant future and an extraordinary world There stranded on a slowly dying Earth he discovers two bizarre races the effete Eloi and the subterranean Morlocks a haunting portrayal of Darwin s evolutionary theory carried to a terrible conclusion The Invisible Man is the fascinating tale of a brash young scientist who experimenting on himself becomes invisible and then criminally insane trapped in the terror of his own creation Convincing and unforgettably real these two classics are consummate representations of the stories that defined science fiction and inspired generations of readers and writers With an Introduction by John Calvin Batchelor and an Afterword by Paul Youngquist New Essays on the African American Novel L. King, Linda F. Selzer, 2016-04-30 This collection contributes to scholarly discussions about the African American novel as a literary form Essays respond to the general question what has been the impact of the African American vernacular tradition from the spirituals blues gospel and jazz to hip hop on the structure and style of the modern African American novel The Signet Classic Book of British Short Stories Frederick Robert Karl, 1985 The Invisible Man Herbert George Wells, 2002 A scientist creates a serum to make himself invisible and then descends into madness Hideous Progeny Angela Smith, 2011-12-20 Twisted bodies deformed faces aberrant behavior and abnormal desires characterized the hideous creatures of classic Hollywood horror which thrilled audiences with their sheer grotesqueness Most critics have interpreted these traits as symptoms of sexual repression or as metaphors for other kinds of marginalized identities yet Angela M Smith conducts a richer investigation into the period's social and cultural preoccupations. She finds instead a fascination with eugenics and physical and cognitive debility in the narrative and spectacle of classic 1930s horror heightened by the viewer's desire for visions of vulnerability and transformation. Reading such films as Dracula 1931, Frankenstein 1931, Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde 1931, Freaks 1932 and Mad Love 1935 against early twentieth century disability discourse and propaganda on racial and biological purity, Smith showcases classic horror's dependence on the narratives of eugenics and physiognomics. She also notes the genre's conflicted and often contradictory visualizations. Smith ultimately locates an indictment of biological determinism in filmmakers' visceral treatments which take the impossibility of racial improvement and bodily perfection to sensationalistic heights. Playing up the artifice and conventions of disabled monsters, filmmakers exploited the fears and yearnings of their audience, accentuating both the perversity of the medical and scientific gaze and the debilitating experience of watching horror. Classic horror films therefore encourage empathy with the disabled monster, offering captive viewers an unsettling encounter with their own impairment. Smith's work profoundly advances cinema and disability studies in addition to general histories concerning the construction of social and political attitudes toward the Other.

The Interracial Experience Ursula M. Brown, 2000-11-30. The number of black white mixed marriages increased by 504% in the last 25 years. By offering relevant demographic research and sociocultural data as well as a series of intensely personal and revealing vignettes, Dr. Brown investigates how mixed race people cope in a world that has shoehorned them into a racial category that denies half of their physiological and psychological existence. She also addresses their struggle for acceptance in the black and white world and the racist abuses many of them have suffered. Brown interweaves research findings with interviews of children of black white interracial unions to highlight certain psychosocial phenomenon or experiences. She looks at the history of interracial marriages in the United States and discusses the scientific and social theories that underlie the racial bigotry suffered by mixed people. Questions of racial identity, conflict, and self-esteem are treated as are issues of mental health. An important look at contemporary mixed race issues that will be of particular interest to scholars, researchers, students, and professionals dealing with race, family, and mental health concerns.
