Regional Change in Industrializing Asia Leo van Grunsven,2019-01-04 First published in 1998 this boo responds to the dynamics of Industrializing Asia and the behavioural changes of actors which in response to changing internal and external forces have given rise to and are constantly giving rise to alterations in patterns of growth From a geographical perspective these are expressed in regional change understood as a reconstruction of spatial organization The imperatives of dynamic comparative advantage changing global or regional competitiveness and regional competition faced by different actors entities or territorial units can be identified as important forces underlying and shaping regional change This volume provides further illumination contextualization and interpretation of the spatiality of the economic reality in Industrializing Asia as well as the role played by and the implications for different actors The objectives of this book are 1 to outline the processes of regional change linked to responses in the form of restructuring and integrative and regionalization tendencies as well as the realignment of the global regional local divide in production systems complexes and the operation of firms associated with reorganization of production in the process of maintaining and reconfiguring comparative advantage 2 to highlight the wide scope of the process by considering differential units of analysis linked to the agents and manifestations of regional change and the role of scale in terms of the spatial units involved 3 to highlight the implications as to the current and future position or role of differential actors agents particularly nation state in shaping the new economic reality in the region and as a corollary its positioning in the global economic order

Factors impacting African women's doctoral success Lifutso Tsephe, 2023-12-20 With the knowledge economy playing such a critical role in global economic development increasing the number of Doctor of Philosophy degree PhD graduates in higher education institutions worldwide has been imperative The knowledge economy emphasises the importance of critical thinkers and researchers as doctoral education cultivates thinkers and researchers and equips them to participate in development African identifying females account for 30% of doctoral graduates in sub Saharan African countries even when PhD education is viewed as an entry into academia and a gateway to careers in research and other disciplines There is a paucity of research regarding PhD graduates who are specifically women in Africa as a result there is little information about their attributes to success in PhD studies what opportunities and freedoms they have and what challenges they face during their PhD journey along with their motivation to overcome these challenges so that they can achieve their goals It is essential for women in Africa to complete their PhD education to contribute to the development of their countries as some scholars believe no nation can grow without women s participation Thus modern civilisation is the result of males and females cooperating in modern society Even though some women complete their PhD studies there is scant research on what strategies enabled their success Instead the reasons for their attrition are known This book aims to contribute to PhD education scholarship specifically for women in Africa It allows women in Africa to narrate their PhD experiences through resilience theory and the capabilities approach lenses
