Fit to Burst: Abundance, Mayhem, and the Joys of Motherhood Rachel Jankovic, 2013-01-29 Fit to Burst is a book of parenting field notes written by a mom in the thick of it all It is chock full of humorous examples and fresh advice covering issues familiar to moms such as guilt cycles temptations to be ungrateful or bitter enjoying your kids and learning how to honor Jesus by giving even in the mundane stuff But this book also addresses less familiar topics including the impact moms have on the relationships between dads and kids the importance of knowing when to laugh at kid sized sin and more Fit to Burst will help us to be moms who parent with the story in mind rather than the snapshot who know how to give much and to require much from their children in the everyday mayhem and who understand the importance of biscuits A note from Rachel I don't pull punches or hold back in this book because I am writing to myself as much as to you If something in this book strikes a little close to home for you know that it struck in my home first I am not writing about other people's problems although I know many of them are common I write about what I know and what I know is the challenges the joys and the work involved in raising little people

African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender Sadia Zulfiqar,2016-09-23 This work examines the work of a group of African women writers who have emerged over the last forty years While figures such as Chinua Achebe Ben Okri and Wole Soyinka are likely to be the chief focus of discussions of African writing female authors have been at the forefront of fictional interrogations of identity formation and history In the work of authors such as Mariama B Senegal Buchi Emecheta Nigeria Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Nigeria Tsitsi Dangarembga Zimbabwe and Leila Aboulela Sudan there is a clear attempt to subvert the tradition of male writing where the female characters are often relegated to the margins of the culture and confined to the domestic private sphere This body of work has already generated a significant number of critical responses including readings that draw on gender politics and colonialism but it is still very much a minor literature and most mainstream western feminism has not sufficiently processed it The purpose of this book is three fold First it draws together some of the most important and influential African women writers of the post war period and looks at their work separately and together in terms of a series of themes and issues including marriage family polygamy religion childhood and education Second it demonstrates how African literature produced by women writers is explicitly and polemically engaged with urgent political issues that have both local and global resonance the veil Islamophobia and a distinctively African brand of feminist critique Third it revisits Fredric Jameson s claim that all third world texts are national allegories and considers these novels by African women in relation to Jameson s claim arguing that their work has complicated Jameson s assumptions
