Hoffman,2021-03-02 Society and democracy are ever threatened by the fall of fact Rigorous analysis of facts the hard boundary between truth and opinion and fidelity to reputable sources of factual information are all in alarming decline A 2018 report published by the RAND Corporation labeled this problem truth decay and Andrew J Hoffman lays the challenge of fixing it at the door of the academy But as he points out academia is prevented from carrying this out due to its own existential crisis a crisis of relevance Scholarship rarely moves very far beyond the walls of the academy and is certainly not accessing the primarily civic spaces it needs to reach in order to mitigate truth corruption In this brief but compelling book Hoffman draws upon existing literature and personal experience to bring attention to the problem of academic insularity where it comes from and where if left to grow unchecked it will go and argues for the emergence of a more publicly and politically engaged scholar This book is a call to make that path toward public engagement more acceptable and legitimate for those who do it to enlarge the tent to be inclusive of multiple ways that one enacts the role of academic scholar in today s world Anchoring Innovation Districts Costas Spirou,2021-05-18 As universities transform cities with their innovation districts what works in these new public private partnerships In recent years the successful revitalization of urban areas has turned them into magnets for those looking for opportunities in a fast paced and rapidly unfolding technology based economy After the economic crisis of 2008 many colleges and universities attempted to generate alternative sources of revenue and pursued aggressive economic development strategies. Some universities even began to actively invest resources in the rebirth and rebranding of urban cores encouraging the development of entrepreneurial technology oriented innovation districts. In Anchoring Innovation Districts, Costas Spirou explains that these districts have emerged as geographic clusters of technology startups, business incubators and accelerators. They aim to take advantage of intellectual capital, commercialize knowledge and give their associated institutions a way to enter into the market. The outcome of robust private/public partnerships and complex real estate strategies, these initiatives also complement other urban revitalization efforts and reshape the socioeconomic makeup of city neighborhoods. Presenting readers with six case studies that explore the role of technological innovation, Spirou argues that higher education anchored innovation districts can make significant contributions to economic expansion, job growth and the institutions that guide their development. He also points out that these districts nonetheless raise questions about the impact of the Ivory Tower on the urban environment. Spirou focuses on Midtown Atlanta's Tech Square, Georgia Tech's Kendall Square, MIT, Philadelphia's University City, the University of Pennsylvania, Drexel University and the University of the Sciences, the PHX Core, Arizona State University and the role that the University of West Florida in Pensacola and the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga play in developing innovation ecosystems. Anchoring Innovation Districts provides unique insight into the transformative opportunities offered and the challenges faced by higher education in the built environment. University administrators, board members, policy makers and scholars will find Spirou's analysis thought provoking and helpful.
