This book is here to help. It has been carefully designed as a comprehensive reference point bringing together international expertise from leaders in fatigue science and showcasing valuable insights from transportation industry practitioners. Real world case studies of fatigue management in practice and future perspectives. While it is possible to read each chapter in isolation, most will be gained by reading the book as a whole. Each chapter starts with an abstract overview and concludes with summary bullet points creating a handy quick check for key points. This accessible text is for those who are interested in supporting alert and safe transportation operations. It is suitable for professionals, transport managers, government advisors, policy makers, students, academics, and anyone who wants to learn more. All transport modes, road, rail, maritime, and aviation, are considered. For anyone waking up to the complex challenge of fatigue management, this handbook is a must.

No Accident Neil Arason, 2014-04-29

It is possible to eliminate death and serious injury from Canada's roads. In other jurisdictions, the European Union, centres in the United States, and at least one automotive company aim to achieve comparable results as early as 2020. In Canada, though, citizens must turn their thinking on its head and make road safety a national priority. Since the motor vehicle first went into mass production, the driver has taken most of the blame for its failures. In a world where each person's safety is dependent on a system in which millions of drivers must drive perfectly over billions of hours behind the wheel, failure on a massive scale has been the result. When we neglect the central role of the motor vehicle as a dangerous consumer product, the result is one of the largest human-made means for physically assaulting human beings. It is time for Canadians to embrace internationally recognized ways of thinking and enter an era in which the motor vehicle, by product of human carnage, is relegated to history. No Accident examines problems related to road safety and makes recommendations for the way forward. Topics include types of drivers, human-related driving errors related to fatigue, speed, alcohol, and distraction, and roads, pedestrians, cyclists, and public transit road engineering motor vehicle regulation auto safety design and collision avoidance technologies such as radar and camera based sensors on vehicles that prevent crashes This multi disciplinary study demystifies the world of road safety and provides a road map for the next twenty years Air Quality Management Eric Taylor,Ann McMillan,2013-10-30
