3RD GRADE SOCIAL STUDIES

Branches of Local Government

Most communities have three branches of local government. Each branch has different jobs to do. The mayor is the leader of the local government. Usually citizens elect the mayor. The mayor works with the citizens and helps solve problems in the community. The mayor also works with the city council. A city council is a group of people who help make the laws for the city or town. The mayor helps settle disagreements and decide if laws have been broken. All three branches work together to make sure the community is safe for their citizens.

State Government

Citizens elect people to lead their state. Each state has their own plan for the government and how it is run. The leaders of the state government work in the state capital. The capital is the building where the leaders meet to make laws for the state.

States have three branches of government. Each branch has different jobs and responsibilities. All three branches work together to run the state. The group of people who make the laws for the state is called the state legislature. The legislature is made of state senators and representatives. They represent their city or town and help make laws for the state.

The next branch is the executive branch. The leader of the state is called the governor. The governor signs the laws made by the legislative branch. His main job is to carry out the state's laws. He also selects state workers to oversee different departments in the government.

The courts make up the third branch of government. Judges make sure that the laws follow the state constitution. They also decide if state laws have been broken.

Like the local government, the state government provides services for the citizens of the state. The government also provides services for the state's economy. Some states have a state court system. The state court system is made up of the state supreme court and lower courts.

Getting to the Core of Literacy for History/Social Studies, Science, and Technical Subjects, Grades 6–12 Vicky Giouroukakis, Maureen Connolly, 2013-05-14 Literacy is not just for English teachers anymore. The new Common Core English Language Arts Standards aren't just for English teachers. Fluent reading and writing are critically important to the study of history, social studies, science, and technical subjects too. What's more, the progress your students make is directly tied to their ability to process information they read and to express their ideas in writing. So how do you make literacy a focus of your teaching without taking time away from essential content? This practical resource, packed with teacher-tested CCSS-based sample lessons, shows you how using the Backward Design approach to set and meet your goals. Each lesson template includes the teaching strategies you'll utilize, ways to incorporate technology and media, variations for differentiation and interdisciplinary connections, links to the work of major educational theorists. Following these models, you'll set the CCSS in your sights and develop lessons that both meet standards and fit your classroom. Before you know it, you'll be infusing reading and writing across your curriculum in purposeful and meaningful ways.

Differentiated Lessons & Assessments: Social Studies Grd 5 Julia McMeans, 2010 Practical strategies, activities, and assessments help teachers differentiate lessons to meet the individual needs, styles, and abilities of students. Each unit of study includes key concepts, discussion topics, vocabulary, and assessments, in addition to a wide range of activities for visual, logical, verbal, musical, and kinesthetic learners. Helpful extras include generic strategies and activities for differentiating lessons and McREL content standards.
