What Is An Example Of Urban Revitalization:

Urban Regeneration in the UK Andrew Tallon, 2009-08-21 Exploring the streets of London Manchester Belfast Edinburgh or Cardiff one cannot help but notice the striking transformations taking place in the urban landscapes This prominent regeneration of urban areas in the UK and around the world has become an increasingly important issue amongst governments and populations The growing concern has been a result of the impacts of the decline of cities since the collapse of manufacturing industries and the heightening of global competition A range of innovative approaches to tackle urban problems have been taken over many decades to attempt to regenerate the fortunes of towns and cities across the UK This text provides an accessible yet critical synthesis of urban regeneration in the UK incorporating key policies approaches issues and debates The central objective of the book is to place the historical and contemporary regeneration agenda into context Section one sets up the conceptual and policy framework for urban regeneration in the UK Section Two traces policies that have been adopted by central government to influence the social economic and physical development of cities including early municipal interventions in the late nineteenth century community focused urban policies of the late 1960s entrepreneurial property led regeneration of the 1980s and competition for urban funds in the 1990s The penultimate section illustrates the key thematic policies and strategies that have been pursued by cities themselves focusing particularly on improving economic competitiveness and tackling social disadvantage These approaches are contextualized by discussions covering for example urban competitiveness policies and the focus on sustainable urban regeneration The final section summarizes key issues and debates facing urban regeneration and speculates upon future directions Urban Regeneration in the UK blends the approaches taken by central government programmes and cities themselves in the regeneration process The latest ideas and examples from across disciplines and across the UK's urban areas are illustrated This book provides a comprehensive and up to date synthesis that will fill a significant gap in the current literature on regeneration and will be a tool for students as well as a seminal read for practitioners and researchers The Routledge Companion to Urban Regeneration Michael E. Leary, John McCarthy, 2013-10-30 In the past decade urban regeneration policy makers and practitioners have faced a number of difficult challenges such as sustainability budgetary constraints demands for community involvement and rapid urbanization in the Global South Urban regeneration remains a high profile and important field of government led intervention and policy and practice continue to adapt to the fresh challenges and opportunities of the 21st century as well as confronting long standing intractable urban problems and dilemmas This Companion provides cutting edge critical review and synthesis of recent conceptual policy and practical developments within the field With contributions from 70 international experts within the field it explores the meaning of urban regeneration in differing national contexts asking questions and providing informed discussion and analyses to illuminate how an apparently disparate field of research policy and practice can be rendered coherent drawing out common themes and significant differences The Companion is divided into six sections exploring globalization and neo liberal perspectives on urban regeneration emerging reconceptualizations of regeneration public infrastructure and public space housing and cosmopolitan communities community centred regeneration and culture led regeneration The concluding chapter considers the future of urban regeneration and proposes a nine point research agenda This Companion assembles a diversity of approaches and insights in one comprehensive volume to provide a state of the art review of the field It is a valuable resource for both advanced undergraduate and postgraduate students in Urban Planning Built Environment Urban Studies and Urban Regeneration as well as academics practitioners and politicians

Governing Urban Development in China Fulong Wu,Fangzhu Zhang,2024-12-17 The book investigates urban development and governance in China and introduces China perspectives to the understanding of governing urban development in the 21st century Building upon a rich and burgeoning literature on China the book explains major changes in governance offers a well synthesized account of state centered governance and provides in depth discussions on urban governance city and regional planning financing and financialization urban redevelopment local economic development and innovation and environmental governance The book bridges theoretical concepts in critical urban studies and empirical research on China and thus depicts a fuller picture of changing and variegated urban governance in the contemporary world The book theorizes Chinese urban governance from the ground up and derives a concept of state entrepreneurialism as a framework for narrating urban governance in China Following this framework each chapter begins with a brief introduction to key concepts in urban geography and then depicts the urban development process on the ground in China Then the chapters discuss these concepts and explanations because many are derived from a different context often in Western economies At the end of each chapter the phenomenal urban changes are evaluated with their theoretical implications This book offers contextualized insights into critical geographical studies of urban governance and is the first essential complementary reading for both urban scholars and those exploring the geography of China It will be of interest to students and researchers in Urban Geography Urban Studies Urban Planning Sociology Political Science and China Studies The book can also be complementary reading in China Studies especially in governance and politics

provides a comprehensive review of current theoretical and practical expertise at the confluence of urban morphology and urban rehabilitation. Its holistic perspective addresses theoretical explanations and approaches as well as practical experiences in the design of urban places. The extensive methodological section illustrates innovation and development in this area. The sections of Urban Morphology versus Urban Redevelopment and Revitalisation offer insights from several perspectives: political, social, cultural, and economic. Each part examines the intersection with the field of morphological studies. The transformations of the urban fabric are the focus of the two final sections; they address historical processes and review current architectural and urban solutions. Housing and Urban Development Legislation--1971 United States.

Congress. House. Committee on Banking and Currency. Subcommittee on Housing, 1971 Impact of Federal Urban Development Programs on Local Government Organization and Planning United States. Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, 1964 System-Theoretical Urban Development Manfred Rolfes, Jan Lorenz Wilhelm, 2024-02-26

In their book, the authors introduce the topic of urban development from a systems theoretical perspective and provide explanatory approaches, tips, and methodological instructions for dealing with urban complexity. Knowing full well that this sometimes amounts to squaring the circle, the authors draw on applied systemic approaches and systematically couple these with epistemological currents that can be assigned to Luhmann's systems theory. The social understanding of this theory of social systems represents a very good starting point for understanding urban development and urban complexity. From this perspective, urban development can be seen as a process in which organisations and individuals with their own expectations and perspectives are involved in which contradictions and conflicts seem inevitable and the future cannot be clearly predicted. Decisions in cities and municipalities are therefore always associated with risks, irritations, and unexpected consequences. With the Potsdam lodestar approach, Rolfes and Wilhelm present a multidimensional approach to managing urban development processes. The approach distinguishes five process dimensions which are presented chapter by chapter and linked with recommendations. The individual chapters are structured along guiding questions and feature appealing visualizations and numerous bonus materials. Inclusive Urban Development in the Global South Andrea Rigón, Vanesa Castán Broto, 2021-05-16 Inclusive Urban Development in the Global South emphasizes the importance of the neighbourhood in urban development planning with case studies aimed at transforming current intervention practices towards more inclusive and just means of engagement with individuals and communities. The chapters explore how diversity of gender, class, race, and ethnicity, citizenship status, age, ability, and sexuality is taken or not taken into account and approached in the planning and implementation of development policy and interventions in poor urban areas. The book employs a practical perspective on the deployment of theoretical critiques of intersectionality and diversity in development practice through case studies examining issues such as water and sanitation planning in Dhaka, indigenous rights to the city in Bolivia, post-colonial planning in Hong Kong, land reform in Zimbabwe, and many more. The book focuses on radical alternatives with the potential to foster urban transformations for planning and development communities working around the world

Ontologies in Urban Development Projects Gilles Falquet, Claudine Métral, Jacques Teller, Christopher Tweed, 2011-07-29 Ontologies are increasingly recognized as essential tools in information science Although the concepts are well understood theoretically the practical implementation of ontologies remains challenging In this book researchers in computer science information systems ontology engineering urban planning and design civil and building engineering and architecture present an interdisciplinary study of ontology engineering and its application in urban development projects The first part of the book introduces the general notion of ontology describing variations in abstraction level coverage and formality It also discusses the use of ontologies to achieve interoperability and to represent multiple points of view and multilingualism This is illustrated with examples from the urban domain The second part is specific to urban development It covers spatial and geographical knowledge representation the creation of urban ontologies from various knowledge sources the interconnection of urban models and the interaction between standards and domain models The third part presents case studies of the development of ontologies for urban mobility urban morphological processes road systems and cultural heritage Other cases report on the use of ontologies to solve urban development problems in construction business models building regulations and urban regeneration It concludes with a discussion of key challenges for the future deployment of ontologies in this domain This book bridges the gap between urban practitioners and computer scientists As the essence of most urban projects lies in making connections between worldviews ontology development has an important role to play in promoting interoperability between data sources both formal urban databases Building Integrated Models Geographical Information Systems etc and less formal thesauri text records web sources etc This volume offers a comprehensive introduction to ontology engineering for urban development It is essential reading for practitioners and ontology designers working in urban development

Tourism and Urban Regeneration Alberto Amore, 2019-08-05 Tourism and Urban Regeneration Processes Compressed in Time and Space presents the global phenomenon of tourism and urban regeneration through the contemporary frames of spatial planning theory metagovernance resilience and disaster capitalism Drawing upon cases from several cities around the globe the book advances the field with the inclusion of examples from post disaster rebuilding and recovery The book is rooted in a theoretical framework that considers time space and tourism as core facets for the analysis By doing so it provides readers with an understanding of different yet similar processes of urban development and identifies the principles for tourism and urban regeneration to effectively contribute to socio economic growth urban change and long term sustainability The theory is illustrated through insightful case studies covering a range of urban tourism destinations including Dubai Newcastle Christchurch Pittsburgh Detroit and Taipei This work will be of great interest to upper level students and researchers in Tourism as well as those in the fields of Geography Urban Planning and Policy and Development

Urban Regeneration, Community Power and the (In)Significance of 'Race' Paul J. Maginn, 2017-11-30 The concepts of community consultation and participation have come to dominate academic and policy debate about urban regeneration partnerships However there has been relatively little discussion about the nature of community power within regeneration partnerships Adopting an ethnographic approach in the study of community participation and power and the significance of race in three ethnically diverse neighbourhoods in London this book highlights that there has been a pluralistic turn in British urban regeneration policy Local communities often portrayed as the least powerful partner within partnerships are shown to use various strategies to influence decision making thus giving rise to a new typology of pluralism pragmatic hyper and paternalistic Furthermore the significance of race and racism within community forums and regeneration partnerships is challenged The playful use of the term In Significance in the title is linked to the argument that although racism exists race does not always matter

Governing Sustainable Urban Renewal Rory Shand, 2013-09-02 Environmental and sustainability issues are currently stretched by economic concerns and policy areas such as housing and education are therefore needed more than ever to help regenerate the social and urban environment Governing Sustainable Urban Renewal Partnerships in Action uses detailed case studies from the UK Germany and USA to explore the effect of institutional design and modes of governance and evaluates policy outputs outcomes and best practice In doing so it illustrates where power and decision making lies in the delivery of urban renewal initiatives and examines the roles for communities in the governance process The analysis offers insight into the formation of partnerships and networks that can help to overcome many of the obstacles faced in urban renewal and in the promotion of sustainable development in core urban areas Given the increasing commitment of governments throughout the world to renewal as a means for resolving entrenched environmental social and governance problems this timely new study should be of interest to students and researchers across a range of disciplines including environment studies geography public policy governance and politics sustainable development planning and urban studies
