What I Saw In America:

What They Saw in America James L. Nolan, Jr, 2016-05-10 Grounded in the stories of their actual visits What They Saw in America takes the reader through the journeys of four distinguished yet very different foreign visitors Alexis de Tocqueville Max Weber G K Chesterton and Sayyid Qutb who traveled to the United States between 1830 and 1950 The comparative insights of these important outside observers from both European and Middle Eastern countries encourage sober reflection on a number of features of American culture that have persisted over time individualism and conformism the unique relationship between religion and capitalism indifference toward nature voluntarism attitudes toward race and imperialistic tendencies Listening to these travelers views both the ambivalent and even the more unequivocal can help Americans better understand themselves more fully empathize with the values of other cultures and more deeply comprehend how the United States is perceived from the outside What I Saw in America \(Annotated\) G.k.

Chesterton, 2018-11-20 G K Chesterton's fascination account of his first trip to America Includes a Preface and Introduction to Chesterton and his works by author Stephen Reuel G K Chesterton 1874 1936 was an English writer of every sort in which his wit could flourish and his style could show and whose goodness in his adventuring for truth is so lacking in the common rancor of today Americans are very patriotic and wish to make their new citizens patriotic Americans But it is the idea of making a new nation literally out of any old nation that comes along Chesterton concludes after his first visit in 1921 For what is unique is not America but what is called Americanisation What I Saw In America G. K. Chesterton, 2023-03-13 I have never managed to lose my old conviction that travel narrows the mind At least a man must make a double effort of moral humility and imaginative energy to prevent it from narrowing his mind Indeed there is something touching and even tragic about the thought of the thoughtless tourist who might have stayed at home loving Laplanders embracing Chinamen and clasping Patagonians to his heart in Hampstead or Surbiton but for his blind and suicidal impulse to go and see what they looked like This is not meant for nonsense still less is it meant for the silliest sort of nonsense which is cynicism The human bond that he feels at home is not an illusion On the contrary it is rather an inner reality Man is inside all men In a real sense any man may be inside any men But to travel is to leave the inside and draw dangerously near the outside So long as he thought of men in the abstract like naked toiling figures in some classic frieze merely as those who labour and love their children and die he was thinking the fundamental truth about them By going to look at their unfamiliar manners and customs he is inviting them to disguise themselves in fantastic masks and costumes Many modern internationalists talk as if men of different nationalities had only to meet and mix and understand each other In reality that is the moment of supreme danger the moment when they meet We might shiver as at the old euphemism by which a meeting meant a duel What I Saw in America G.
