Goldberger,2009-10-13 PAUL GOLDBERGER ON THE AGE OF ARCHITECTURE The Guggenheim Museum Bilbao by Frank Gehry the CCTV Headquarters by Rem Koolhaas the Getty Center by Richard Meier the Times Building by Renzo Piano Pulitzer Prize winning critic Paul Goldberger's tenure at The New Yorker has documented a captivating era in the world of architecture one in which larger than life buildings urban schemes historic preservation battles and personalities have commanded an international stage Goldberger's keen observations and sharp wit make him one of the most insightful and passionate architectural voices of our time In this collection of fifty seven essays the critic Tracy Kidder called America's foremost interpreter of public architecture ranges from Havana to Beijing from Chicago to Las Vegas dissecting everything from skyscrapers by Norman Foster and museums by Tadao Ando to airports monuments suburban shopping malls and white brick apartment houses This is a comprehensive account of the best and the worst of the age of architecture On Norman Foster Norman Foster is the Mozart of modernism He is nimble and prolific and his buildings are marked by lightness and grace He works very hard but his designs don't show the effort He brings an air of unnerving aplomb to everything he creates from skyscrapers to airports research laboratories to art galleries chairs to doorknobs His ability to produce surprising work that doesn't feel labored must drive his competitors crazy On the Westin Hotel The forty five story Westin is the most garish tall building that has gone up in New York in as long as I can remember It is fascinating if only because it makes Times Square vulgar in a whole new way extending up into the sky It is not easy these days to go beyond the bounds of taste If the architects the Miami based firm Arquitectonica had been trying to allude to bad taste one could perhaps respect what they came up with But they simply wanted like most architects today to entertain us On Mies van der Rohe Mies's buildings look like the simplest things you could imagine yet they are among the richest works of architecture ever created Modern architecture was supposed to remake the world and Mies was at the center of the revolution but he was also a counterrevolutionary who designed beautiful things His spare minimalist objects are exquisite He is the only modernist who created a language that ranks with the architectural languages of the past and while this has sometimes been troubling for his reputation his architectural forms become more astonishing as time goes on The Design of Childhood Alexandra

Lange,2018-06-12 From building blocks to city blocks an eye opening exploration of how children's playthings and physical surroundings affect their development Parents obsess over their children's playdates kindergarten curriculum and every bump and bruise but the toys classrooms playgrounds and neighborhoods little ones engage with are just as important These objects and spaces encode decades even centuries of changing ideas about what makes for good child rearing and what does not Do you choose wooden toys or plastic or increasingly digital What do youngsters lose when seesaws are deemed too dangerous and slides are designed primarily for safety How can the built environment help children cultivate self reliance In these debates parents educators and kids themselves are often caught in the middle Now prominent design critic Alexandra Lange reveals the surprising histories behind the human made elements of our children's pint size landscape Her fascinating investigation shows how the seemingly innocuous universe of stuff affects kids behavior values and health often in subtle ways And she reveals how years of decisions by toymakers architects and urban planners have helped and hindered American youngsters journeys toward independence Seen through Lange s eyes everything from the sandbox to the street becomes vibrant with buried meaning The Design of Childhood will change the way you view your children s world and your own

Architect ,2009-04 Architecture and Science-Fiction Film David T. Fortin,2016-12-05 The home is one of our most enduring human paradoxes and is brought to light tellingly in science fiction SF writing and film However while similarities and crossovers between architecture and SF have proliferated throughout the past century the home is often overshadowed by the spectacle of otherness The study of the familiar home within the alien SF creates a unique cultural lens through which to reflect on our current architectural condition SF has always been linked with alienation however the conditions of such alienation and hence notions of home have evidently changed There is often a perceived comprehension of the familiar that atrophies the inquisitive and interpretive processes commonly activated when confronting the unfamiliar Thus by utilizing the estranging qualities of SF to look at a concept inherently linked to its perceived opposite the home a unique critical analysis with particular relevance for contemporary architecture is made possible World Architecture ,1998 Powerhouse Principles Jorge Pérez,2008 A wealthy real estate developer shares the principles of his success examining the vast financial opportunities that exist in real estate key points to successful investment and effective business strategies Getting Sauced Karen S. Katz,2024-06-04 Karen Katz's memoir Getting Sauced is a fascinating flavor filled journey from humble culinary beginnings to the glittering and intense world of high profile cooking shows As executive producer of Emeril Live during its glory days Karen Katz witnessed all the backstage chaos drama and intrigue as the show's growing pains were splayed out like a butterfly's leg of lamb Her memoir Getting Sauced goes behind the scenes in the wild world of food television production to give the reader a seat at the VIP table as she shares the dish behind each dish But her story isn't a straight line from culinary school to cooking show producer Karen grew up in Long Island the daughter of a woman who thought that a combination of Lipton Soup Mix and orange juice made the best basting liquid Her journey from Mrs Paul's Fish Sticks to Michelin star dinners takes the audience along for a glutton to glamour ride from Sunday family take outs of Moo Goo Gai Pan to the Swiss Alps for spit roasted wild boar and eventually into the Food Network kitchens where she learned all the secrets of how to prep a turducken for television Along the way encounter a culinary Who's Who Emeril Lagasse Julia Child Bobby Flay Susan Feniger Jacques Pepin Jean Georges Vongerichten Buddy Valastro Martha Stewart and more to name drop a few Each in their own way taught Karen not only how to cook but how to cook with love and enthusiasm The New York Times Magazine ,2004 New York Magazine ,1995-10-09 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Metropolis ,2007-07 Hearts of the City Herbert Muschamp,2013-12-11 From the late Herbert Muschamp the former architecture critic of The New York Times and one of the most outspoken and influential voices in architectural criticism a collection of his best work The pieces here from The New Republic Artforum and The New York Times reveal how Muschamp's views were both ahead of their time and timeless He often wrote about how the right architecture could be inspiring and uplifting and he uniquely drew on film literature and popular culture to write pieces that were passionate and often personal changing the landscape of architectural criticism in the process These columns made architecture a subject accessible to everyone at a moment when because of the heated debate between modernists and postmodernists architecture had become part of a larger public dialogue One of the most courageous and engaged voices in his field he devoted many columns at the Times to the lack of serious new architecture in this country and particularly in New York and spoke out against the agenda of developers He departed from the usual dry didactic style of much architectural writing to playfully for example compare Frank Gehry's Guggenheim Bilbao to the body of Marilyn Monroe or to wax poetic about a new design for Manhattan's manhole covers One sees in this collection that Muschamp championed early on the work of Frank Gehry Rem Koolhaas Zaha Hadid Thom Payne Frank Israel Jean Nouvel and Santiago Calatrava among others and was drawn to the theoretical writings of such architects as Peter Eisenman Published here for the first time is the uncut version of his brilliant and poignant essay about gay culture and Edward Durrell Stone's museum at 2 Columbus Circle Fragments from the book he left unfinished whose title we took for this collection A Dozen Years Metroscope and Atomic Secrets are also included Hearts of the City is dazzling writing from a humanistic thinker whose work changed forever the way we think about our cities and the buildings in them
