Linguaphile Julie Sedivy, 2024-10-15 Winner of the W O Mitchell City of Calgary Book Prize A celebration of the beauty and mystery of language and how it shapes our lives our loves and our world If there is one feature that defines the human condition it is language written spoken signed understood and misunderstood in all its infinite glory In this ingenious lyrical exploration Julie Sedivy draws on years of experience in the lab and a lifetime of linguistic love to bring the discoveries of linguistics home to the place language itself lives within the yearnings of the human heart and amid the complex social bonds that it makes possible Linguaphile A Life of Language Love follows the path that language takes through a human life from an infant s first attempts at sense making to the vulnerabilities and losses that accompany aging As Sedivy shows however language and life are inextricable and here she offers them together a childish misunderstanding of her mother s meaning reveals the difficulty of relating to other minds frustration with professional communication styles exposes the labyrinth of standards that define success the first signs of hearing loss lead to a meditation on society s discomfort with physical and mental limitations Part memoir part scientific exploration and part cultural commentary this book epitomizes the thrills of a life steeped in the aesthetic delights of language and the joys of its scientific scrutiny Atoms, Bombs and Eskimo Kisses: A Memoir of Father and Son Claudio G. Segrè, 2019-08-09 There are few books that explore the complex relations between famous parents and their children I knew Claudio and his Nobel laureate father Emilio Segr in this honest angry loving memoir I hear their voices again speaking across the gulf that all families struggle to bridge Richard Rhodes author of Dark Sun The Making of the Hydrogen Bomb This is a warm and openhearted book Claudio Segr shows that all the traditional tensions between fathers and sons can still exist even in the extraordinary milieu he grew up in He evokes that experience with grace and a fine eye for the telling details Adam Hochschild author of Half the Way Home It s a wonderful book a coming of age story in the atomic era the struggle of a son for the love and respect of a famous father It is also a perceptive insight into the pursuit of science the price of fame and how families bridge differences between generations and cultures to find age old connections and ultimately love and understanding James Kunetka author of City of Fire Los Alamos and the Atomic Age and Oppenheimer The Years of Risk The Nobel Prize winning physicist Emilio Segr gave an account of his own life in the posthumously published A Mind Always in Motion In the present book Segr's only son now himself deceased gives an account of his growing up with such a father The experience as he describes it was not an easy one Transported in infancy from Italy to the United States Claudio was required to negotiate his way between his family's persistent conviction of European cultural superiority and the danger of being perceived as not one of us by his new compatriots Admiring his father he was conscious of himself as Son of Superman alternatively feeling eclipsed by and relishing the position Academically he was beset by a joyless desire to achieve and only seldom gained the praise or sympathy he longed for from his exacting and often sarcastic father But he discovered the delights of hot dogs comic books and baseball and forged ahead on his own by choosing the reputedly Red Reed College over his family's preferred Berkeley After graduation in search of work to which he could be as devoted as my father was to physics he spent some years as a journalist before ultimately making a creditable academic career as a historian along the way establishing an apparently satisfactory family life of his own The book ends with an account of his relations with his father as an adult including a disappointing attempt at a therapeutic confrontation Katherine Livingston Science How does a son emerge from his father's shadow when it is the size of a mushroom cloud Such was the plight of Claudio G Segr whose father Emilio won the Nobel Prize in Physics in 1959 and helped to create the atomic bomb He recounts his lifelong quest to establish an independent identity He also tells of his hope that his own success would earn him the respect and acceptance of his difficult father Segr alternately describes his father as Superman a mighty king and a basilisk a mythical reptile whose very look is fatal Nevertheless his father emerges as a good caring man unsure how to handle the fame that separates him from his son It is tragic therefore that no true reconciliation occurs and that Segr's only moment of catharsis takes place when it is already too late in 1989 when he delivers his father's eulogy Douglas A Sylva The New York Times In this heartfelt counterpart to his father's autobiography A Mind Always in Motion journalist and professor Claudio Segr attempts to shed some thawing light on the cold peace between father and son that lasted until Emilio Segr's death in 1989 despite the affectionate nose rubbings of the title Publishers Weekly The son of a Nobel laureate and Manhattan Project collaborator meditates on the inspirations and disappointments of a difficult relationship In 1959 the author's father shared the Nobel Prize for his work on antimatter But fatherhood isn't as precise a science as physics and young Claudio mixed pride in his father's superman achievements with frustration and rage at the impossible standards and criticisms that so outweighed the occasional moment of affection between them Segr's memoir of an immigrant childhood is often poignant at bottom a thoughtful account of life with a father who found the behavior of atomic particles far easier to comprehend than the emotional life of his son Kirkus Reviews

Politics, Persuasion, and Pragmatism Ellen Susan Peel,2002 An addition to the Theory and Interpretation of Narrative series Peel s book addresses how feminist utopian narratives attempt to persuade readers to adopt certain beliefs Using three feminist utopian novels as her main examples The Marriages between Zones Three Four and Five by Doris Lessing The Left Hand of Darkness by Ursula K Le Guin and Les Gu rill res by Monique Wittig Peel examines how belief bridging and protean metaphor in these works persuade readers Literary persuasion often dismissed as propaganda in fact works in subtle and profound ways The book presents major techniques by which narrative literature exercises this sophisticated influence on beliefs Ultimately concluding that the pragmatic works better than the static in utopian feminism Peel shows how in novels such as those under discussion the narrative techniques support pragmatism Inquiring how narrative form can shape political belief by affecting readers responses the author integrates topics that are rarely combined The book investigates three theoretical issues utopian belief distinguishing the perfectionism of the static from the vitality of the pragmatic and showing how the latter creates narrative energy the persuasive process tracing narrative form and asking how implied readers match real ones and how readers are swayed by belief bridging and protean metaphor and feminist belief a nuanced definition that accounts both for what links feminists and what makes them diverse Politics Persuasion and Pragmatism explores the rhetorical and ethical power of narrative literature
