Junior and Youth Grassroots Football Culture Jimmy O'Gorman, 2018-02-02 Football is ubiquitously acknowledged as The Global Game and or The People's Game everyday all encompassing terms familiar to anyone with an interest in football which illustrate albeit nebulously the game's international reach and popularity Yet much academic and popular attention has been and continues to be narrowly centred on topics pertaining to the elite and professional aspects of the game At a time when there appears to be an ever widening gap between the grassroots and elite levels of the sport this book brings together for the first time a collection of research articles dedicated solely to youth and junior grassroots football The intention is to generate future inquiry encourage theoretical debate and stimulate empirical research on topics and issues within the relatively marginalised area of the game that is youth and junior grassroots football The collection represents a preliminary consideration of what is already currently known about grassroots football and no less importantly point towards what remains unknown and under researched but which deserves much more attention than has been given hitherto As such the collection includes contributions from practitioners and researchers alike Topics included range from the provision organisation and development of grassroots football in one national association to broader issues such as the sources of enjoyment in participation the lived experiences of junior players and coaches to the causes of youth dropout from football In addition the significance of social stratification and various forms of social division which structure children s participation in grassroots football are discussed These include female participation and the role of elite female role models and issues relating to the participation of immigrant youth The book is intended to appeal to practitioners academics and football enthusiasts alike This book was originally published as a special issue of Soccer Society

Questioning Leadership
Gabriele Lakowski, Scott Eacott, Colin W. Evers, 2016-11-10 Questioning Leadership offers a diverse mix of cutting edge research in the field of educational leadership with contributions from expert and emerging leadership scholars It contextualises school leadership within broader social and historical contexts and traces its influence on school performance through time from its relatively modest role within a systems theory paradigm to its growing influence from the 1980s onwards as exercising leadership came to be perceived as being largely responsible for improving educational outcomes This book invites the reader to challenge the current orthodoxy of leader centrism and instead reflect more broadly on the various structural and institutional interrelationships that determine how a school functions successfully It poses challenging questions such as Is leadership really necessary for high quality school performance Can schools function effectively without leadership Is it possible to describe the work that principals do without using the word leadership How do we challenge the assumption that leadership simply exists and that it is seen as the appropriate default explanation for school performance This book does not assume that leadership is the key to organisational performance although it acknowledges the work that principals do It goes against current orthodoxy and offers varied perspectives on how leadership might be repositioned vis vis organisational and institutional structures It also suggests some new directions for leading and learning and throws open a discussion on leadership that for too long has been captured by the assumption that the leader is the cause of organisational performance and learning outcomes in schools At a time when leadership s dominance seems unshakeable this is a bold book that should appeal to postgraduate students of educational leadership and management those undertaking training in educational administration and current school leaders interested in exploring the value of leadership for educational organisations
