H. Hui, Frank Sherkat,2005-12-19 Advances in food science technology and engineering are occurring at such a rapid rate that obtaining current detailed information is challenging at best While almost everyone engaged in these disciplines has accumulated a vast variety of data over time an organized comprehensive resource containing this data would be invaluable to have The K'Oben Amber M. O'Connor,Eugene N. Anderson,2016-12-14 K Oben traces the Maya kitchen and its associated hardware ingredients and cooking styles from the earliest times for which we have archaeological evidence through today s culinary tourism in the area It focuses not only on what was eaten and how it was cooked but the people involved who grew or sourced the foods who cooked them who ate them Additionally the authors examine how Maya foodways and the people involved fit into the social system particularly in how food is incorporated into culture economy and society The authors provide a detailed literature review of hard to find sources including out of print centuries old cookbooks archaeological field notes ethnographies and ethnohistories out of circulation and not available in English thesis documents only available in Spanish and in university archives as well as current field research on the Maya The more recent Maya foodways can be studied from cookbooks ethnographies and ethnohistorical documentation Between the two of us we have assembled a small but representative collection of cookbooks some self published and rare that were available in Merida and elsewhere in Mexico during the late 20th century Some are quite old and all reflect local traditional foodways Geographically the book concentrates on Yucatan Tabasco and Chiapas in Mexico but will include Pre Classic and Classic evidence from Guatemala and El Salvador whose foodways are influenced by Maya traditions

Curing & Smoking Steven Lamb, 2018-02-22

In the thirteenth River Cottage Handbook Steven Lamb shows how to cure and smoke your own meat, fish and cheese. Curing and smoking your own food is a bit of a lost art in Britain these days. While our European neighbours have continued to use these methods on their meat, fish and cheese for centuries, we seem to have lost the habit. But with the right guidance, anyone can preserve fresh produce, whether living on a country farm or in an urban flat. It doesn't have to take up a huge amount of space. The River Cottage ethos is all about knowing the whole story behind what you put on the table, and as Steven Lamb explains in this thorough, accessible guide, it's easy to take good quality ingredients and turn them into something sensational. Curing & Smoking begins with a detailed breakdown of any kit you might need, from sharp knives to sausage stuffers for the gadget-loving cook, and an explanation of the preservation process. This includes a section showing which products and cuts are most suitable for different methods of curing and smoking. The second part of the book is organised by preservation method, with an introduction to each one and comprehensive guidance on how to do it. And for each method, there are, of course, many delicious recipes. These include chorizo, Scotch eggs, salt beef, hot smoked mackerel, home-made gravadlax, and your own dry-cured streaky bacon sizzling in the breakfast frying pan. With an introduction by Hugh Fearnley-Whittingstall and full-colour photographs as well as illustrations, this book is the go-to guide for anyone who wants to smoke, brine or air-dry their way to a happier kitchen.

The Bloomsbury Handbook of Food and Material Cultures Irina D. Mihalache, Elizabeth Zanoni, 2023-02-23

Cookbooks, Menus, Ingredients, Dishes, Pots, Kitchens, Markets, Museum exhibitions. These objects, representations and environments are part of what the volume calls the material cultures of food. The book features leading scholars, professionals and chefs who apply a material cultural perspective to consider two relatively unexplored questions: 1. What is the material culture of food? and 2. How are frameworks, concepts and methods of material culture used in scholarly research and professional practice? This book acknowledges that materiality is historically and culturally specific, local but also global, as food both transcends and collapses geographical and ideological borders. Contributors capture the malleability of food, its material environments and stuff, and its representations in media, museums and marketing, while following food through cycles of production, circulation and consumption. As many of the featured authors explore food and its many material and immaterial manifestations, not only reflect social issues but also actively produce, preserve and disrupt identities, communities, economic systems and everyday social practices. The volume includes contributions from and interviews with a dynamic group of scholars, museum and information professionals and chefs who represent diverse disciplines such as communication studies, anthropology, history, American studies, folklore and food studies.
