Fischer, Muriel Norde, Harry Perridon, 2004-05-28 The basic idea behind this volume is to probe the nature of grammaticalization. Its contributions focus on the following questions: i In how far can grammaticalization be considered a universal diachronic process or mechanism of change and in how far is it conditioned by synchronic factors? ii What is the role of the speaker in grammaticalization? iii Does grammaticalization itself provide a cause for change or is it an epiphenomenon? iv Is it a conglomeration of causal factors/mechanisms which elsewhere occur independently? v If it is epiphenomenal, how do we explain that similar pathways so often occur in known cases of grammaticalization? vi Is grammaticalization unidirectional? vii What is the nature of the parameters guiding grammaticalization? The overall aim of the book is to enrich our understanding of what grammaticalization does or does not entail via detailed case studies in combination with theoretical and methodological discussions.

The Handbook of Linguistics Mark Aronoff, Janie Rees-Miller, 2017-04-24 The first edition of this Handbook is built on surveys by well-known figures from around the world and around the intellectual world, reflecting several different theoretical predilections, balancing coverage of enduring questions and important recent work. Those strengths are now enhanced by adding new chapters and thoroughly revising almost all other chapters partly to reflect ways in which the field has changed in the intervening twenty years, in some places radically.
