

Stanislav Kelman – Essay “B”

What are your short-term and long-term career aspirations? How will an MBA education further your development? Why does the academic experience offered at the Stanford GSB, in particular, appeal to you?

It is not often when one decides to take a step that will have a profound effect on his or her future. Such decisions should never be taken lightly because, more often than not, they involve having to defy conventional wisdom or taking a calculated risk. Going to a business school in the midst of an economic downturn, rather than staying in a stable and financially rewarding career, is a good example of such a drastic solution.

However, looking back, I've never regretted following my heart when it came to making a bold career changing move. Ultimately, regardless of how successful I was in a particular endeavor, I always knew that what really matters is that I gave it my best shot. So here is my story of the many turns and detours that brought me to a point when an MBA has become the next logical step, although not necessarily the one that would come to mind when looking from the most pragmatic perspective.

I always was – and still am – fascinated by modern technology and how it affects our everyday life. Thus, when I first started college, I knew that I should go into Sciences and Engineering, but was faced with a difficult choice of selecting the right major. On one hand, I wanted to follow in the footsteps of my father and grandfather, both of whom are renowned Physicists. Yet the field of Information Systems was red hot at the time and it would have been just as easy to go with the flow. Upon much consideration, I found a compromise and went into Mechanical Engineering.

Making Space in the Works of James Joyce Valerie Benejam, John Bishop, 2012-05-23 James Joyce's preoccupation with space be it urban geographic stellar geometrical or optical is a central and idiosyncratic feature of his work In Making Space in the Works of James Joyce some of the most esteemed scholars in Joyce studies have come together to evaluate the perception and mental construction of space as it is evoked through Joyce's writing The aim is to bring together several recent trends of literary research and criticism to bear on the notion of space in its most concrete sense The essays move dialectically out of an immediate focus on the phenomenological and intra psychic into broader and wider meditations on the social urban and collective As Joyce's formal experiments appear the response to the difficulty of enunciating truly the experience of lived space this eventually leads us to textual and linguistic space The final contribution evokes the space with which Joyce worked daily that of his manuscripts or what he called paperspace With essays addressing all of Joyce's major works this volume is a critical contribution to our understanding of modernism as well as of the relationship between space language and literature

The Function of the Dream and the Body in Diderot's Works Jennifer Vanderheyden, 2004 In addition to his philosophical works and innovative novels the eighteenth century writer Denis Diderot is most often recognized as one of the major authors of the Encyclopédie Described by scholars as a modern and provocative thinker and writer Diderot inspired intellectual discussion with his theories of artistic mimesis in which he placed special emphasis on what is not stated in words but is conveyed through gestures and other non verbal methods of communication This book explores Diderot's representation of the body as a tableau vivant a literary painting in which the narrator portrays his characters as if suspended in a state of oscillation between paralysis and movement The Function of the Dream and the Body in Diderot's Works discusses how Diderot's depiction of the body poses problems of interpretation for the serious reader spectator who as in Freudian dream analysis must generate a narrative based on a visual painting of the body's silent speech

Waste Works Brenda Chalfin, 2023-03-06 In Waste Works Brenda Chalfin examines Ghana's planned city of Tema theorizing about the formative role of waste infrastructure in urban politics and public life Chalfin argues that at Tema's midcentury founding a prime objective of governing authorities was to cultivate self contained citizens by means of tightly orchestrated domestic infrastructure and centralized control of bodily excrement to both develop and depoliticize the new nation Comparing infrastructural innovations across the city Chalfin excavates how Tema residents pursue novel approaches to urban waste and sanitation built on the ruins of the inherited order profoundly altering the urban public sphere Once decreed a private matter to be guaranteed by state authorities excrement becomes a public issue collectively managed by private persons Pushing self care into public space and extending domestic responsibility for public well being and bodily outputs popularly devised waste infrastructures are a decisive arena to make claims build coalitions and cultivate status Confounding high modernist ideals excremental infrastructures unlock bodily waste s diverse political potentials Selected Works of Joseph E. Stiglitz Joseph E. Stiglitz,2009 The second in a series of six volumes containing a selection of Joseph Stiglitz s most important and widely cited work Volume I set out the basic concepts underlying the economics of information Volume II extends these concepts and applies them to a number of different settings in labour capital and product markets Freedom and Dissatisfaction in the Works of Agnes Heller Lucy Jane Ward,2016-12-27 Ward s book focuses on the work of the Hungarian philosopher Agnes Heller prominent member of the Budapest School a group of students who studied under the Marxist social theorist Gy rgy Luk cs For both Marx and Heller albeit in different ways dissatisfaction emerges as the inevitable result of the expansion of need s within modernity and as a catalyst for the development of anthropological wealth what Marx refers to as the human being rich in need Ward argues that dissatisfaction and the corresponding category of human wealth as both motif and method is central to grasping Heller s seemingly disparate writings While Marx postulates a radical overcoming of dissatisfaction Heller argues dissatisfaction is integral not only to the on going survival of modernity but also to the dynamics of both freedom and individual life In this way Heller s work remains committed to a position that both continually returns and departs is both with and against the philosophy of Marx This book will be of interest to scholars of political philosophy social theory critical theory and sociology
