A deep seated issue persists in postgraduate education one that threatens the relevance of academia in our diverse and evolving world The problem at hand is the Western centric nature of postgraduate education where research paradigms methodologies and theoretical frameworks overwhelmingly reflect a Western worldview This rigid adherence to Western ideologies has left indigenous communities on the periphery of academic discourse denying them the opportunity to engage with their knowledge systems and practices Despite the richness and prevalence of indigenous knowledge the existing educational structure remains a barrier to their inclusion This disconnect is not only an academic concern but also a societal one as it hinders sustainable development and stifles the voices of indigenous scholars and students Global Perspectives on Decolonizing Postgraduate Education serves as a compelling solution to the problem at hand It offers a comprehensive roadmap to decolonize postgraduate education infusing it with indigenous approaches paradigms theories and methods Through critical examination and practical strategies this book empowers academics curriculum designers and postgraduate students to embark on a transformative journey The University of Namibia, 1980-1989 University of Namibia,B. Harlech-Jones,1989 Unizulu ,1987 Fortnightly Digest of South African Affairs ,1978-06-30 Pharmacology for Nurses and Other Health Workers Maria Salomina Dreyer,2007 Driving Change Gibbon, Trish,2014-06-12 Driving Change tells a story that exemplifies a basic law of physics known to all the application of a relatively small lever can shift weight create movement and initiate change far in excess of its own size It tells a story about a particular instance of development cooperation relatively modest in scope and aim that has nonetheless achieved remarkable things and has been held up as an exemplar of its kind It does not tell a story of flawless execution and perfectly achieved outcomes it is instead a narrative that gives some insight into the structural and organisational arrangements the institutional and individual commitments and above all the work intelligence and passion of its participants which made the SANTED Programme a noteworthy success Evidence-Based Faculty Development Through the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) Plews, Rachel C.,Amos, Michelle L.,2020-01-10 Educational developers play a central role in supporting faculty members and informing their ongoing professional development programming through the scholarship of teaching and learning SoTL SoTL presents an opportunity for faculty professional development that is action oriented evidence based and engaging for faculty members at any stage in their academic career Evidence Based Faculty Development Through the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning SoTL is a critical scholarly publication that examines SoTL research as a method of professional development
