The Globalization of Legal Education Bryant G. Garth, Gregory C. Shaffer, 2022

Legal academics and practitioners in recent decades increasingly emphasize the so-called globalization of legal education. The diffusion of the Juris Doctor JD degree to Australia, Hong Kong, Japan, and South Korea, as well as the advent of a very similar Juris Master JM degree in China, and a shift in the late 1980s and beyond to a new US-influenced format in India exemplify shifts toward US legal education practices. Flood 2014. The global and Americanizing trend is evident on the websites of law schools around the globe with many law schools competing to be the most global in terms of their faculty, curricula, teaching methods, and students. Less pronounced but related to the literature on legal globalization is that on transnationalization and transnational processes, which is a strong component of the move toward globalization in legal education. As this book shows, if we look to see what is celebrated as part of globalized law schools and faculties, we see increased cross-border flows of professors and students, teaching of transnational legal subjects, development of particular forms of teaching practice such as legal clinics, explicit focus on transnational rankings and transnationalized scholarly communities, sharing teaching and research methods and approaches across domains of law.

Transforming Missiology Fohle Lygunda li-M, 2018-02-28

Dr Fohle Lygunda li-M provides a thorough analysis of missiological teaching in theological institutions in Africa, with special reference to ten Christian universities in the Democratic Republic of the Congo. His detailed examination of current teaching of mission theory and practice builds a solid foundation for the articulation of a new paradigm of missiological education. In this book, Dr Lygunda presents the case for a transformed approach to raising up seminarians who are equipped to lead indigenous missional churches that will fulfil the Great Commission in their own communities and beyond their national borders.

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02

South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy. The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English, and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans, but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages. Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools, which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools. The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students, not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully. The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience.
