Adapting to Climate Change W. Neil Adger, Irene Lorenzoni, Karen L. O'Brien, 2009-06-25 This book presents the latest science and social science research on whether the world can adapt to climate change Environmental and Climate Change in South and Southeast Asia , 2014-08-07 Based on pioneering research this volume on South and Southeast Asia offers a cultural studies perspective on the vast and largely uncharted domain of how local cultures are coping with climate changes and environmental crises The primary focus is on three countries that have high emission rates India Indonesia and Thailand Whereas the dominant discourse on climate largely reflects the view of Western cultures this volume adds indigenous views and practices that provide insight into Hindu Buddhist and Islamic responses Making use of textual materials fieldwork and analyses it highlights the close links between climate solutions forms of knowledge and the various socio cultural and political practices and agencies within societies The volume demonstrates that climate is global and plural Contributors are Monika Arnez Somnath Batabyal Joachim Betz Susan M Darlington Dennis Eucker R diger Haum Albertina Nugteren Marcus N sser Ravi Baghel Martin Seeger and Janice Stargardt Climate Justice and Geoengineering Christopher J. Preston, 2016-09-21 It is already clear that climate engineering raises numerous troubling ethical issues The pertinent question yet to be addressed is how the ethical issues raised by climate engineering compare to those raised by alternative proposals for tackling climate change This volume is the first to put the ethical issues raised by climate engineering into a comprehensive comparative context so that the key ethical challenges of these technologies can be better measured against those of alternative climate policies Addressing the topic specifically through the lens of justice contributors include both advocates of climate intervention research and its sceptics The volume includes a helpful blend of the theoretical and the practical with contributions from authors in philosophy engineering public policy social science geography sustainable development studies economics and climate studies This cross disciplinary collection provides the start of an important and more contextualized second generation analysis of climate engineering and the difficult public policy decisions that lie ahead A Changing Environment for Human Security Linda Sygna, Karen O'Brien, Johanna Wolf, 2013-06-26 Environmental change presents a new context and new opportunities for transformational change This timely book will inspire new ways of understanding the relationship between environmental change and human security A Changing Environment for Human Security Transformative Approaches to Research Policy and Action both supports and informs a call for new transformative approaches to research policy and action The chapters in this book include critical analyses case studies and reflections on contemporary environmental and social challenges with a strong emphasis on those related to climate change Human thoughts and actions have contributed to an environment of insecurity manifested as multiple interacting threats that now represent a serious challenge to humanity Yet humans also have the capacity to collectively transform the economic political social and cultural systems and structures that perpetuate human insecurities

These fresh perspectives on global environmental change from an interdisciplinary group of international experts will inspire readers whether students researchers policy makers or practitioners to think differently about environmental issues and sustainability The contributions show that in a changing environment human security is not only a possibility but a choice

Research Handbook on Climate Change Adaptation Law Verschuuren, Jonathan,2022-06-14 This thoroughly revised Research Handbook on Climate Change Adaptation Law brings together leading scholars in the field to summarise and assess key topics including tort and insurance law disaster law water law and marine law as well as biodiversity law and pollution control

The Adaptive Challenge of Climate Change Karen O'Brien,Elin Selboe,2015-08-07 This book presents a new perspective on adaptation to climate change It considers climate change as more than a problem that can be addressed solely through technical expertise Instead it approaches climate change as an adaptive challenge that is fundamentally linked to beliefs values and worldviews as well as to power politics identities and interests Drawing on case studies from high income countries the book argues that it is time to consider adaptation to climate change as a challenge of social personal and political transformations The authors represent a variety of fields and perspectives illustrating the importance of interdisciplinary approaches to the problem The book will be of interest to researchers policymakers and advanced students in the environmental sciences social sciences and humanities as well as to decision makers and practitioners interested in new ideas about adapting to climate change

Land Grabbing and Migration in a Changing Climate Sara Vigil,2022-02-27 This book provides a theoretical and empirical examination of the links between environmental change land grabbing and migration drawing on research conducted in Senegal and Cambodia While the impacts of environmental change on migration and of environmental discourses on land grabs have received increased attention the role of both environmental and migration narratives in shaping migration by modifying access to natural resources has remained under explored Using a variegated geopolitical ecology framework and a comparative global ethnographic approach this book analyses the power of mainstream adaptation and security frameworks and how they impact the lives of marginalised and vulnerable communities in Senegal and Cambodia Findings across the cases show how environmental and migration narratives linked to adaptation and security discourses have been deployed advertently or inadvertently to justify land capture leading to interventions that often increase rather than alleviate the very pressures that they intend to address The interrelations between these issues are inherent to the tensions that exist in different contexts and at different times between capital accumulation and political legitimation The findings of the book point to the urgency for researchers and policymakers to address the structural causes and not the symptoms of both environmental destruction and forced migration It shows how acting upon environmental change land grabs and migration in isolated or binary manners can increase rather than alleviate pressures on those most socio environmentally vulnerable This book will be of interest to students scholars and practitioners working on the topics of land and resource grabbing and environmental change and migration The book will also be of interest to those analysing political ecology transitions in Africa and Asia as well as to those interested in novel theoretical and methodological frameworks

Natural Disasters and Adaptation to Climate Change Sarah Boulter, Jean Palutikof, David John Karoly, Daniela Guitart, 2013-10-14 Eighteen case studies of worldwide natural disasters are used to inform actual climate change adaptation practice for researchers and decision makers

Climate Justice and Disaster Law Rosemary Lyster, 2016-01-11 Climate disasters demand an integration of multilateral negotiations on climate change disaster risk reduction sustainable development human rights and human security Via detailed examination of recent law and policy initiatives from around the world and making use of a capability approach Rosemary Lyster develops a unique approach to human and non human climate justice and its application to all stages of a disaster prevention response recovery and rebuilding and compensation and risk transfer She comprehensively analyses the complexities of climate science and their interfaces with the law and policy making processes and also provides an in depth analysis of multilateral climate change negotiations under the 1992 United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change

Research Handbook on Climate Disaster Law Rosemary Lyster, Robert R.M. Verchick, 2018 Through assessing climate disaster law in relation to international public private and environmental law this Research Handbook considers the unique challenges barriers and opportunities that climate disasters pose for law and policy Scientific and empirical evidence suggests that the laws addressing natural disasters cannot be adequately applied to disasters that are caused by climate change Featuring contributions from leading international experts this Research Handbook will be a useful resource for those with an interest in environmental law and international policymaking

Ethical Values and the Integrity of the Climate Change Regime Hugh Breakey, Vesselin Popovski, 2016-05-23 This book investigates the ethical values that inform the global carbon integrity system and reflects on alternative norms that could or should do so The global carbon integrity system comprises the emerging international architecture being built to respond to the climate change This architecture can be understood as an integrity system an inter related set of institutions governance arrangements regulations and practices that work to ensure the system performs its role faithfully and effectively This volume investigates the ways ethical values impact on where and how the integrity system works where it fails and how it can be improved With a wide array of perspectives across many disciplines including ethicists philosophers lawyers governance experts and political theorists the chapters seek to explore the positive values driving the global climate change processes to offer an understanding of the motivations justifying the creation of the regime and the way that social norms impact upon the operation of the integrity system The collection focuses on the nexus between ideal ethics and real world implementation through institutions and laws The book will be of interest to policy makers climate change experts carbon taxation regulators academics legal practitioners and researchers

Climate Change and Security Christian Webersik, 2010-05-05 Human induced climate change is causing resource scarcities natural disasters and mass migrations which in turn destabilize national international and human security structures and multiply the human inputs to climate change Alarms about the expanding role of climate change as a force multiplier of existing threats to national international and human security structures studies are being raised at all levels of governance and intelligence national including the U S Senate the Director of National Intelligence the Central Intelligence Agency and the Pentagon transnational including the European Union and the United Nations and private such as the Central News Agency and the American Security Project Climate Change and Security A Gathering Storm of Global Challenges focuses on the three major feedback effects of human induced climate change on human and international security resource scarcity natural disasters and sea level rise Decreasing per capita availability of renewable resources due to such regional effects of climate change as drought and desertification leads to intensified competition for these resources and may result in armed violence especially when compounded by conditions of rapid population growth tribalism and sectarianism as in Darfur and Somalia The increase in the frequency and intensity of meteorological disasters associated with global warming weakens already debilitated tropical societies and makes them still more vulnerable to political instability as in Haiti Sea level rise will lead to disruptive mass migrations of climate refugees as dense littoral populations are forced to abandon low lying coastal regions as in Bangladesh

Climate Hazards, Disasters, and Gender Ramifications Catarina Kinnvall, Helle Rydstrom, 2019-06-11 This book focuses on the challenges of living with climate disasters in addition to the existing gender inequalities that prevail and define social economic and political conditions Social inequalities have consequences for the everyday lives of women and girls where power relations institutional and socio cultural practices make them disadvantaged in terms of disaster preparedness and experience Chapters in this book unravel how gender and masculinity intersect with age ethnicity sexuality and class in specific contexts around the globe It looks at the various kinds of difficulties for particular groups before during and after disastrous events such as typhoons flooding landslides and earthquakes It explores how issues of gender hierarchies patriarchal structures and masculinity are closely related to gender segregation institutional codes of behaviour and to a denial of environmental crisis This book stresses the need for a gender responsive framework that can provide a more holistic understanding of disasters and climate change A critical feminist perspective uncovers the gendered politics of disaster and climate change This book will be useful for practitioners and researchers working within the areas of Climate Change response Gender Studies Disaster Studies and International Relations

Borderland Battles Annette Idler, 2019-01-25 This book argues that borderlands intensify security threats at the conflict crime nexus It demonstrates the multiple insecurities that arise from complex interactions among rebels criminals and other violent non state groups Challenging urban biases and state centric views it draws on unprecedented multi year fieldwork in the war torn marginalized Colombian Ecuadorian and Colombian Venezuelan borderlands

The "Katrina Effect" William M. Taylor, Michael P. Levine, Oenone Rooksby, Joely-Kym Sobott, 2015-08-27 On August 29th 2005 the headwaters of Hurricane Katrina s storm surge arrived at New Orleans the levees broke and the city was inundated Perhaps no other disaster of the 21st century has so captured the global media's attention and featured in the imagination of disaster like Katrina. The Katrina Effect charts the important ethical territory that underscores thinking about disaster and the built environment globally. Given the unfolding of recent events, disasters are acquiring original and complex meanings. This is partly because of the global expansion and technological interaction of urban societies in which the multiple and varied impacts of disasters are recognized. These meanings pose significant new problems for civil society: what becomes of public accountability, egalitarianism and other democratic ideals in the face of catastrophe? This collection of critical essays assesses the storm's global impact on overlapping urban social and political imaginaries. Given the coincidence and perfect storm of environmental, geo-political and economic challenges facing liberal democratic societies, communities will come under increasing strain to preserve and restore social fabric while affording all citizens equal opportunity in determining the forms that future cities and communities will take. Today, 21st century economic neo-liberalism, global warming or recent theories of urban vulnerability and resilience provide key new contexts for understanding the meaning and legacy of Katrina.

Climate Change, Adaptive Capacity and Development Joel B. Smith, Saleemul Huq, Richard J. T. Klein, 2003. The Third Assessment Report of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC) has presented strong evidence that human-induced climate change is occurring and that all countries of the world will be affected and need to adapt to its impacts. The IPCC points out that many developing countries are particularly vulnerable because of their relatively low adaptive capacity.

Urban Climate Resilience van der Berg, Angela, Verschuuren, Jonathan, 2022-09-06. This significant book addresses the most important legal issues that cities face when attempting to adapt to the changing climate. This includes how to become more resilient against the impacts of climate change such as sea level rise, increases in the intensity and frequency of storms, floods, droughts and extreme temperatures.

Cities of the Global South Reader Faranak Miraftab, Neema Kudva, 2014-10-10. The Cities of the Global South Reader adopts a fresh and critical approach to the field of urbanization in the developing world. The Reader incorporates both early and emerging debates about the diverse trajectories of urbanization processes in the context of the restructured global alignments in the last three decades. Emphasizing the historical legacies of colonialism, the Reader recognizes the entanglement of conditions and concepts often understood in binary relations: first world vs. third world, wealth vs. poverty, development vs. underdevelopment and inclusion vs. exclusion. By asking whose city? whose development? the Reader rigorously highlights the fractures along lines of class, race, gender and other socially and spatially constructed hierarchies in global South cities. The Reader's thematic structure, where editorial introductions accompany selected texts, examines the issues and concerns that urban dwellers, planners and policy makers face in the contemporary world. These include the urban economy, housing, basic services, infrastructure, the role of non-state civil society-based actors, planned interventions and contestations, the role of diaspora capital, the looming problem of adapting to climate change and the increasing spectre of violence in a post-9/11 transnational world. The Cities of the Global South Reader pulls together a diverse set of readings.

from scholars across the world some of which have been written specially for the volume to provide an essential resource for a broad interdisciplinary readership at undergraduate and postgraduate levels in urban geography urban sociology and urban planning as well as disciplines related to international and development studies Editorial commentaries that introduce the central issues for each theme summarize the state of the field and outline an associated bibliography They will be of particular value for lecturers students and researchers making the Cities of the Global South Reader a key text for those interested in understanding contemporary urbanization processes

The Ethics of Global Climate Change Denis G. Arnold, 2011-03-31 Global climate change is one of the most daunting ethical and political challenges confronting humanity in the twenty first century The intergenerational and transnational ethical issues raised by climate change have been the focus of a significant body of scholarship In this new collection of essays leading scholars engage and respond to first generation scholarship and argue for new ways of thinking about our ethical obligations to present and future generations Topics addressed in these essays include moral accountability for energy consumption and emissions egalitarian and libertarian perspectives on mitigation justice in relation to cap and trade schemes the ethics of adaptation and the ethical dimensions of the impact of climate change on nature

Natural Disasters and Development in a Globalizing World Mark Pelling, 2003 Authorative and comprehensive this book makes clear that there are links between global scale processes and local experiences of disaster but underlies the difficulty of attributing blame for individual disasters on specific global pressures
