Academic Paper from the year 2017 in the subject Sociology Individual Groups Society language English abstract This paper examined the impact of awareness creation and administration of various sanctions on examination malpractice using the West African Examinations Council as a case study The effects of the awareness level and the sanctions were also critically x rayed with a view to applauding the results if encouraging or suggesting an improved strategy for an effective control and noticeable reduction in the rate of examination malpractice in public examinations like the West African Senior Secondary Certificate Examinations WASSCE conducted by WAEC The rate of candidates involvement in malpractice during the public examinations conducted across West African subregion is of great concern to many stakeholders In spite of stringent measures taken to curb malpractice the rate of involvement seems to be increasing geometrically It is in reaction to this worrisome trend that this study was conducted to probe into the root cause of continuous indulgence in malpractice during the examinations conducted by the West African Examinations Council WAEC in Nigeria This is with a view to measuring the public awareness level as regards the implications of involvement in examination malpractice and appealing to their moral instinct to eschew this menace using the proposed theory of awareness creation and sanction strategy SACS The study employed purposive sampling technique in selecting 10 ten states where various stakeholders in education were sampled for the administration of a questionnaire designed to gauge their knowledge of implications of involvement in examination malpractice of different forms One thousand copies 1 000 of the instrument were administered in the States of Abia Katsina Kebbi Benue Kwara Cross River Bayelsa Nasarawa Niger and Edo among the Senior Secondary three Students their teachers and parents of the same students These states were purposively selected for their high level of malpractice recorded in the examination conducted by WAEC in recent times Out of the administered copies of the instrument nine hundred and forty two 942 were retrieved for analysis Daily Graphic Yaw Boadu-Ayeboafah,2006-03-13 Promoting Examination Ethics

Addo-Twum, 1978-04-28 When a Child is Motherless Andrew Okogba, 1987 Essays on Language in Societal Transformation Tunde Opeibi, Josef Schmied, Tope Omoniyi, Kofo Adededeji, 2015-01-30 This paper generally lends support to the arguments advanced by Awonusi 1989 1990 2004 and others in favour of an endonormative as opposed to an exonormative standard for English pronunciation in Nigeria They include the fact that the existing exonormative standard British Received Pronunciation RP has undergone and is still undergoing changes in its homeland and is not homogeneous The heightened social mobility of today's world perhaps works against the demarcation and homogenization of language varieties and this is all the more true of the varieties or lects that have been proposed for Nigerian English when these are related more or less explicitly to educational attainment Major attention is given in the paper to a schema of basilect mesolect and acrolect presented by Ugorji 2010 with a focus on his account of vowels and his presentation of a mechanism derived from optimality theory for evaluating vowels in contention The basilect and the mesolect are found to be so close to each other that they might be combined There would then be just two varieties In contrast the acrolect is close to British RP albeit with many variants due to the conflict of two standardising forces i.e British RP and the basilect mesolect The vowel system of an officially adopted endonormative standard Nigerian RP would mainly be the same as that of British RP but the optimality mechanism could be employed to give preference to some of the Nigerian variants for inclusion in it Mass Failure in Public Examinations Ayorinde Dada, 1987 Apex Magazine Issue 138 Lesley Conner, Jason Sizemore, Strange Surreal Shocking Beautiful APEX MAGAZINE is a digital dark science fiction and fantasy genre zine that features
