Employee Manual

Outgoing Shipments:

There are a multitude of shipping documents required, especially when goods are exported. All shipments should include a packing list and certificate of inspection regardless of destination. Sanders Krane, Inc. should always be listed as the shipper on all documents. This is regardless if we are using a customs broker or a third party shipping company.

When exporting goods to our customers overseas, the following must also be included with shipments:

- customs invoice
- certificate of origin
- insurance certificate
- bill of lading or airway bill
- dangerous goods declaration (if needed)
- consular invoice (if needed — a list of countries that require consular invoices is listed in the back of this manual)

We require a letter of credit from the buyer if the shipment value is over $100,000. The letter of credit must be obtained before a shipment is sent out.

In some cases, only shipments accompanied by clean bills of lading will be accepted. Shipments with an unclean bill of lading will be returned to us.

Be sure to check all documentation before shipments are sent out. Missing or inaccurate documentation results in delayed delivery, fines, or confiscation of shipments.
