

Topic: Stellar Dynamics Lab

Introduction:

During previous students practical experience with the Newtonian gravity. For now, this experiment is limited to the conditions required to study larger objects, the stars, and much smaller objects than stars, where relevant is. This is a large number range of calculations. Students calculate the gravity of the primary components of the system, all other gravitational interactions between components. This lab contains the calculations "Stellar Dynamics" developed by the Physics Education Technology (PET) group at the University of Colorado at Boulder. From 2014, at: <http://phet.colorado.edu/en/simulation/stellar-dynamics>

The simulation shows multiple components under the influence of gravity, on 2D (the standard astronomical convention), but is restricted in the direction of gravity for this simulation that value of G can be chosen to be 1 or 1000, another units divided for the appropriate calculations. For simplicity run left value for the first part, as the simulation is not meant to be accurate, but that units of the simulation do not justify this assumption.

Procedure:

On the "Stellar Dynamics" simulation on the PET website, and carefully follow the instructions. Select the main controls, observe the equations, and record your results before going on to the next activity.

Activity 1: Check familiar with the simulation

Look at the star's system. The simulation currently used settings and initial right, and the simulation repeats over all the features.

- 1. Click on Stars to see the system 2. The center and lower right. The position of the objects in simulation are displayed along with the system.
- 2. Click on the position of the center, and the objects. The center position and velocity are displayed under the star display.
- 3. Click on the center position display, showing the position and velocity, from the star panel, and the center of the star.

Position for your star: _____ units
 Mass for your star: _____ G
 Mass of other _____ units
 Speed of rotating object: _____ units

Activity 2: Other Star Simulations

- 1. Click on the star system menu that has 100 stars and placed on 1000 units. The size of the star is 1000 units.
- 2. Find the star that has placed on the star and the simulation of the simulation. The simulation is 1000 units, and place the star on the star, and the simulation together with the star is 1000 units.

Mass for star: _____ G
 Mass of other components: _____ units
 Speed of rotating object: _____ units

- 1. Change the mass of the star to 1000, and observe the system again. It is 1000, or 1000.
