faceted world which is no longer available to them unless under adult supervision Research supports in depth recommendations regarding the ideal children's environment across a range of contexts and dimensions Until recent times the needs of children within the urban environment were largely ignored. There is little tradition and no broadly agreed contemporary architectural or landscape theory as to how children should be provided for beyond a limited functional agenda There is a sense that architecture for childhood is not taken seriously it is either whimsical and ephemeral or largely designed for adults an adjunct to the more important business of adult needs and aspirations Yet children access much of their education and development through play and social interaction with their childhood counterparts. The spaces in and around childrens daycare centres schools supervised parks and other dedicated childrens environments are the subject of this collection As more and more purpose designed buildings and gardens for children are opened the need to listen to children and their carers is becoming more aparant Mark Dudek gathers together a number of internationally recognized experts in the field of childcare environments to write about different aspects of the landscape They have been chosen in particular because of their background in enquiring research orientated work both theoretical and practical They listen to and watch children Contributors have considered the childs environment as one which is secure and controlled yet offers additional environmental dimensions which extend developmental possibilities Children often spend a great deal of time in daycare facilties and schools as parents are absorbed in their own work and leisure activities. This places an emphasis on architects and planners to consider the needs of children in great detail As such the childrens environment must be conceived of as a rich complex place a world within a world We use the word LANDSCAPE in recognition that children do not differentiate between the inside and the outside private and public every part of their perception is open to stimulation by a stimulating environment The Kitchen Counter Cooking School Kathleen Flinn, 2012-09-25 The author of the New York Times bestseller The Sharper Your Knife The Less You Cry tells the inspiring story of how she helped nine others find their inner cook After graduating from Le Cordon Bleu in Paris writer Kathleen Flinn returned with no idea what to do next until one day at a supermarket she watched a woman loading her cart with ultraprocessed foods Flinn's chefternal instinct kicked in she persuaded the stranger to reload with fresh foods offering her simple recipes for healthy easy meals The Kitchen Counter Cooking School includes practical healthy tips that boost readers culinary self confidence and strategies to get the most from their grocery dollar and simple recipes that get readers cooking The Surprising Life of Constance Spry Sue Shephard, 2010-11-30 Fascinating to be eagerly devoured Clarissa Dickson Wright Most people today if they have heard of her associate Constance Spry with the cookery book bearing her name But Connie was much much more than the author of a bestselling cookery book She was deeply unconventional extremely charming and very determined Spry s life took her from the back streets of Victorian Derby to running a hugely successful business as the florist of choice for the highest of high society organizing the flowers for royal weddings and indeed for the Queen's coronation She endured a violent first marriage
