Walk The Blue Fields Stories Claire Keegan:

Walk the Blue Fields Claire Keegan, 2016-03-29 Claire Keegan's brilliant debut collection Antarctica was a Los Angeles Times Book of the Year and earned her resounding accolades on both sides of the Atlantic. Now she has delivered her next much anticipated book Walk the Blue Fields, an unforgettable array of quietly wrenching stories about despair and desire in the timeless world of modern day Ireland. In the never before published story The Long and Painful Death, a writer awarded a stay to work in Heinrich B. L.'s old cottage has her peace interrupted by an unwelcome intruder whose ulterior motives only emerge as the night progresses. In the title story, a priest waits at the altar to perform a marriage and during the ceremony and the festivities that follow battles his memories of a love affair with the bride that led him to question all to which he has dedicated his life. Later that night he finds an unlikely answer in the magical healing powers of a seer. A masterful portrait of a country wrestling with its past and of individuals eking out their futures. Walk the Blue Fields is a breathtaking collection from one of Ireland's greatest talents and a resounding articulation of all the yearnings of the human heart. The Forester's Daughter Claire Keegan, 2019-03-07 Faber Stories, a landmark series of individual volumes, presents masters of the short story form at work in a range of genres and styles. The evening is fine. In the sky, a few early stars are shining of their own accord. She watches the dog licking the bowl clean. This dog will break her daughter's heart, she's sure of it. Claire Keegan's mesmeric story takes us into the heart of the Wicklow countryside and of the farming family of Victor Deegan, with his three teenagers, the milking and the mortgage. When Deegan finds a gun dog and gives it as a present to his only daughter, his wife is filled with foreboding at this seeming act of kindness. As the seasons pass, long buried family secrets threaten to emerge.

Anthologisation and Irish Short Fiction Paul Delaney, 2025-03-28 This original new study explores the recent flowering of short fiction in Ireland, analysing the production, dissemination and reception of the short form in the twenty-first century and reading contemporary short stories in their many configurations and guises. This volume covers twenty-five years of Irish writing, beginning in late 1997 with the establishment of the innovative literary periodical The Stinging Fly and concluding in 2022. The book is structured in five parts, with each part focusing on a particular mode of publication: periodicals, single author volumes, short story cycles, edited anthologies, and small or independent presses. Each part includes a series of case studies, while also engaging with a diverse range of short story criticism and theory, both comparative and Irish-centered. Anthologisation and Irish Short Fiction brings different writers at distinct stages of their careers into conversation, and this volume aims to illuminate the contemporaneous value of this body of work, its innovative and varied use, and the diversity of its practice. Particular attention is also shown to the fluidity of the short form, to its capacity to disrupt and arrest, and to its progressive writerly potential.

Irish Women Writers and the Modern Short Story Elke D'hoker, 2016-07-28 This book traces the development of the modern short story in the hands of Irish women writers from the 1890s to the present. George Egerton, Somerville, and Ross, Elizabeth Bowen, Mary Lavin, Edna O'Brien, Anne Enright, and Claire Keegan are only some of the many Irish women writers who have made lasting contributions to the genre of the modern short story, yet their achievements have often been marginalized in literary histories which typically define the Irish short story in terms of its oral heritage, nationalist concerns, rural realism, and outsider hero. Through a detailed investigation of the short fiction of fifteen prominent writers, this study aims to open up this critical conceptualization of the Irish short story to the formal properties and thematic concerns women writers bring to the genre. What stands out in thematic terms is an abiding interest in human relations, whether of love, the family, or the larger community. In formal terms, this book traces the overall development of the Irish short story, highlighting both the lines of influence that connect these writers and the specific use each individual author makes of the short story form.
